A get-well' resolution

Romulus City Council voted unanimously last week to express its prayers and get well wishes to President Ronald Reagan and the three men who were injured protecting him in the March 30 assassination attempt.

Councilman Edward Rush said, "I would like to have the Clerk adopt an appropriate resolution on behalf of the city of Romulus to be sent to President Reagan offering him our prayers and heartfelt wishes for a full and complete recovery on behalf of the elected officials and the citizens of Romulus."

As the vote was being taken, someone suggested that the three men injured in protecting the President also be sent an appropriate resolution. City Clerk Leonard Folmar informed Council that all resolutions have to be printed in full as part of the minutes in the local newspaper. He suggested that a resolution could be sent to President Reagan with appropriate communications sent to the three heroic men who were injured in protecting him against six assassins' bullets.

Council unanimously approved that motion.

The three men who were critically injured March 30 when the President was hit in the lung by a .22 caliber bullet are James S. Brady, Reagan's press secretary; Secret Service agent Timothy McCarthy and District of Columbia Police Officer Thomas Delahanty.

At last report, the President and his three protectors were "continuing to make good progress" on their way to recovery.

Clarification

Last week's Roman carried a story about Ray Cantrell Jr. announcing his candidacy for City Clerk.

In his employment by the city, it should have stated he was hired into the DPW by former Mayor Terry Troutt, was promoted to Purchasing Director by former Mayor James Stewart and re-appointed to his present position both terms by present Mayor William M. Oakley.

Softball teams are needed

The City of Romulus Recreation Dept. is seeking two men's Class A teams for the resident softball league, four teams for the women's Class B resident league, and three teams for the men's Sunday Morning League.

For details call the Recreation Dept. at 941-0666, Ext. 254.

Voters to face 4.5 mill levy in June

Supt. Bedell projects $3.5 million deficit by 1982

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus School Board wrestled with two highly emotional issues Monday night before voting to place 4.5 mills on the June 8 ballot and tabling the motion to close South Junior High School.

The vote to place the millage on the annual school election ballot was 6-1, with Shirley Lombardi being the lone dissenter. All other six board members stated their reluctance to approve it but said it was necessary.

A surprisingly small audience heard the board discuss at length two of the most important issues facing the school district. In recommending 4.5 mills be placed on the ballot, School Supt. Bill Bedell supplied a Budget Status Sheet that showed the district could face a deficit of up to $3.5-million by June 30, 1982.

He explained the financial crisis to the board and audience and said that more and more people "are getting on the bandwagon" in support of the May 19 tax reform bill. Bedell said if that al passes, it will cut homeowners' taxes by 18 mills (by 50 percent). "With that tax relief, the homeowners would be in a much better position to approve the 4.5

mills for schools," he explained.

However, Bedell explained that even with the millage increase there would probably have to be cutbacks. "It will not eliminate the 5-hour day. It will not bring us out of debt. We need to develop a three or four year plan."

Two representatives of the Citizen's Finance Committee testified on behalf of the millage, saying it was vitally needed. John Hopewell discussed some of the effects of the Headlee Amendment and Roger Cadaret gave a short report.

After introducing himself, Cadaret said, "I am representing the Citizen's Sub-committee on School Revenues. We have evaluated the following problems facing our school system: Proposed new state aid formula; Headlee Act effect; Declining student enrollment and the Anticipated budget deficit.

"As a result, we are recommending that the Board take such steps as necessary to prepare a ballot proposal for a school millage increase in the June 8th election," he said.

Trustee Evelyn Hopewell said, "I'm reluctant to go to the people and ask for more money. However, I know how much it is needed."

Dick Campbell was informed that the millage was for just one year in answer to his question. "I'd like to see consolidation and school boundaries drawn up at the same time," he said.

Board President Wayne Avery added, "I will vote for this reluctantly — but first I want to know some answers. How many schools will be closed, not necessarily which ones but how many elementary schools? Also, what programs will be maintained? It is imperative that we get the committee's report as soon as possible."

Mrs. Lombardi explained her "no" vote to the Roman after the meeting.

"I hear a lot of people crying 'tax relief.' They're paying enormous taxes. There's no assurance that tax relief will come on May 19th. Education has to learn to live on the tax dollars provided. At times educators are unrealistic. When you can't educate 5,900 students on $15-million, there's something wrong."

She had words of praise for Supt. Bedell and said Romulus was extremely fortunate to have a man of his quality.

"At the same time, I must vote my convictions," said Mrs. Lombardi, who has been sitting on the school board five years, the longest of any present member.

"I hate to say it, but I can see half-day sessions in the future if things don't change. I may be 'crucified' for saying that, but I've got to be honest about the way I feel," she said.

On the issue of closing South Junior High, every board member, except two, expressed great sentimental attachment to the revered old school building that has great historic tradition in Romulus.

Bill Raeck, chairman of the Citizen's Committee on Building Consolidation, gave his report. "Many school buildings are only 50 percent occupied. We've explored many programs and alternatives. This decision (to close South Jr. High) should have been made by previous school boards," he said.

"If it had been made five years ago, it could have saved one and a quarter million dollars," Raeck said. His figures were based on the estimated savings of $250,000 a year if South is vacated by students.

Actually, South would not be "closed." South's 7th and 8th graders would be transferred to North Jr. High and all district 9th graders would go to the Senior High. South would then be used as a community education center and/or a Wayne County Day Treatment Center.

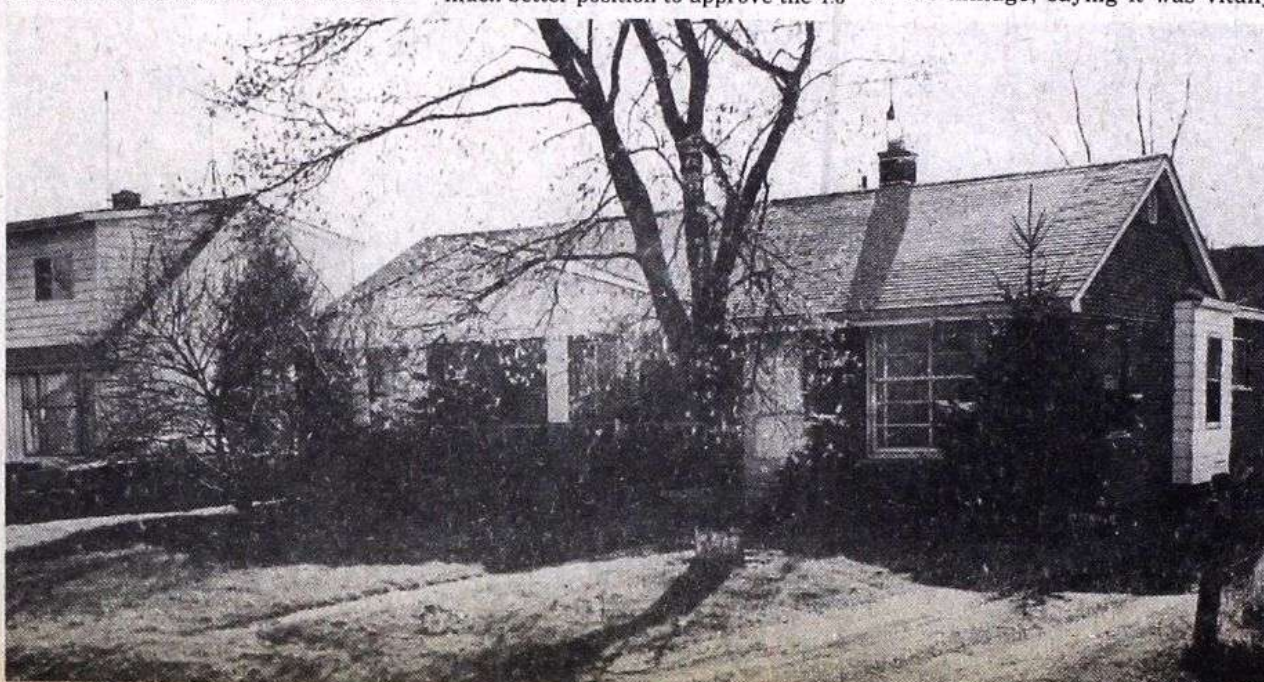

Oakley, Raspberry said he would support it.

Oakley's voice became more firm as he replied, "I've told you three times in the last 10 minutes that there is enough money in CETA funds to pay the three workers and no city funds are needed. There is no need to transfer money." Oakley added that it was unfortunate that Rush had intended to transfer money from the vacant position of mayor's secretary. "I intend to bring in a request for a secretary next week or the week after," Oakley said.

Rush repeated that Council had no information at all about the retaining of the CETA workers. "We have nothing in front of us about this."

Raspberry added, "As I see this, it's the proper procedure (to transfer the House of controversy

A large number of residents turned up at last week's City Council meeting to protest the placing of an Adult Foster Care Home in the house located at 6270 Hunt Street in Romulus. Some residents in the neighborhood called the home unsuitable to house mentally retarded people and said the house was not up to code in many places. Council voted to voice strong opposition to using the above house for an Adult Foster Care Home.

Council, residents protest 'unsuitable' foster home

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

A large number of residents presented a petition to City Council last week protesting the licensing of an Adult Foster Care home for mentally retarded persons at 6270 Hunt Street in Romulus.

They presented the petition, signed by 30 neighbors of the Hunt house, voicing strong opposition to the idea and calling the home "unsuitable" and not up to code. Council accepted the petition and after hearing many residents speak on the emotional subject, voted 6-0 "to urge as strongly as possible" the denial of the license with the numerous objections listed.

Heading the petition drive was Mary Humphrey, who presented it to Council and spoke first on the sensitive issue that has raised a storm of criticism around the state over the way the program has been handled.

Everyone speaking on the issue said they had no objection to the concept of placing mentally retarded people into a "family home setting" but said they objected to unsuitable houses being used for the projects.

"The structure is not suitable at all for an Adult Foster Care Home," Mrs. Humphrey began. "The house is 30 years old, it's located on a narrow lot, and children play in the street."

She said a busy railroad runs behind the backyard of the home and testimony in a court case has reported that the nearby Trouten Drain contains contaminants that could cause sickness.

She closed by saying, "We ask — not demand — that the Mayor and Council deny the application for this adult foster care home and to notify the state of that action."

Robert Nettles of Hunt Street lives four doors from the proposed home.

"I don't think the house will be suitable at all for that purpose," he said.

Mrs. Bains spoke next and said many residents did not understand the letter sent from the city informing them of the proposed licensing of the home. She added, "There should be a nurse on duty

Rush, Raspberry clash with Mayor

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

The failure of Mayor William Oakley to inform Council he had retained three CETA workers who were scheduled for termination erupted into a strong verbal clash with two Councilmen last week.

Councilman Edward Rush charged the mayor with intentionally keeping information from the council. Councilman Jimmie C. Raspberry agreed there was a tremendous "communications gap" and went a step further, saying the City of Romulus may be breaking the law by the way it's doing business.

Rush, who has battled with the mayor on many occasions the past two years, brought up the subject of the three CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) workers who were retained without Council's knowledge. He said he had a letter as part of his Council Packet that was signed by a CETA worker three days after he was supposed to be laid off.

Rush, who is weighing options on running for mayor, said he had several questions for Mayor Oakley. He asked why Council was not notified by the mayor that three CETA workers were being kept on the payroll. Oakley responded to Rush by saying, "It's unfortunate you didn't have all these questions before tonight. You could have gotten answers by a simple phone call."

Councilman Raspberry interjected, "I disagree with you, Mr. Mayor. Things are being done without Council's consent."

When asked why he retained them, Oakley explained, "I retained them under management's responsibility. There are CETA funds there through the rest of this fiscal year to pay for them."

Rush quoted a letter from Mayor Oakley to Council, dated Feb. 27 that said unless all CETA workers were laid off effective March 31, there would not be enough money to pay their unemployment benefits through Oct. 1, 1981 (the end of the fiscal year).

"Now you're telling us that there is enough money in CETA funds to pay for this without using city funds," Rush questioned Oakley. "We have nothing about this in front of us, no proof that we have the money to pay CETA employees."

Oakley, getting impatient over Rush's questioning, replied, "I will apologize for not putting it in writing if that will make you feel better," he told Rush. Oakley reminded Rush that he could make a simple phone call and get all the answers he wanted. "I have never failed to respond to a request from you."

Again Raspberry seized the moment to comment.

"Mayor, I disagree with you. We have a budget that we are responsible for and we must be sure we have money to pay for everything we do. I got the names of those people, too. (The three CETA workers retained without Council's knowledge.)

"Mr. Rush found out about the CETA workers being retained by finding the letter in his packet. It seems if we stumble upon something, then we ask about it. That's not the way it should be. You should keep us informed at all times."

Rush made a motion of intent to transfer funds from three vacant positions in the city — Administrative Aide to the mayor, Public Information Officer and the mayor's personal secretary — to pay for the three CETA workers retained by

Economic woes shouldn't hurt Easter travel

Auto club says motorists face no gas shortages

With motorists facing no gasoline shortages and airlines offering special discount fares, the annual Easter week migration to warm-weather destinations could be the heaviest since 1978 despite Michigan's economic problems, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"For the first Easter holiday in three years motorists will find gasoline available everywhere in the United States," said Auto Club's Touring Manager Joseph Ratke.

Requests from Auto Club members for travel routings to Florida, Texas, California, Nevada and Arizona are up 17 percent over the 1980 pre-Easter period," reports Ratke.

Florida continues to be the most popular destination for Auto Club members. Travel routings to the Sunshine State are up more than 3 percent.

Texas, with its promise of jobs luring many Michiganians, is the second most requested destination with inquiries up 117 percent over the same period in 1980.

The only major warm-weather destination not showing an increase is Mexico, which is down 43 percent.

Florida officials report a strong rebound in March from a 6 to 8 percent decline in tourism during January and February. They blame the early 1981 dropoff on cold weather, adverse publicity about Miami and unemployment in the Midwest.

Motorists in Florida will find approximately 60 percent of service stations open daylight hours Easter Sunday (April 19). Gasoline prices are slightly lower than those in Michigan, ranging from a low of $1.348 for full-serve regular to a high of $1.523 for premium unleaded.

Lodging space is scarce in the traditional beach areas of southern Florida and near Disney World in central Florida. Auto Club urges travelers to confirm reservations before heading south.

Airlines' report heavy bookings on peak travel days, especially April 16-18 for outgoing flights and April 20 and 24-26 for returning flights. Persons who don't insist on flying on those dates will have little difficulty finding space.

Since this is one of the busiest times of the year for airports, Auto Club suggests that passengers arrive at least one hour prior to departure and arrange to be transported to and from the airport because of the heavy demand for parking over holidays.

Most Easter weekend auto travel in Michigan is confined to a 50-mile radius of motorists' homes. Peak travel time is usually between 6 and 10 p.m. on Easter Sunday when families are returning home from reunions with relatives and friends.

An Auto Club pre-holiday survey of 300 service stations along main roads shows 57 percent plan to operate Easter Sunday. After 9 p.m., 28 percent are open while 10 percent will operate past midnight.

In the Detroit area on Easter, 32 percent will pump gas daylight hours, 18 percent after 9 p.m. and 14 percent after midnight.

Last year, 10 persons were killed on Michigan highways during Easter weekend, three fewer than the previous year.

Residents protest Care Homes

24 hours a day and a doctor should be on call at all time."

Everyone who spoke expressed their sympathy for the plight of the mentally retarded but said their concern over the condition of the proposed house was as much for the welfare of the occupants as anything else.

Council Jimmie C. Raspberry, who was contacted by many of the neighbors of the proposed location, had strong feelings on the subject also.

"The petitioners' complaints are not based on zoning," he said at the outset. "The State Attorney General has said that city codes must be complied with. It's not the human being, whether physically or mentally disabled. It's that the home is not suitable. It's not safe for the occupants or the neighbors," Raspberry said.

The petition delivered to Council stated that the undersigned, "do hereby set forth our support for the concept currently being promoted by the State of Michigan; however, we are opposed to the establishment of such a facility at the abovementioned location when said establishment does not support the concept from which it was created and contrarily, propoarts an unsafe environment for its residents; and the location is known for its conjection (e.g. railroad traffic) and its lack of recreational facilities and therefore could not conceivably provide a climate for patients.

"Be it resolved that we the undersigned, a majority of Romulus residents living in the proximity to 6270 Hunt Street, do respectfully request that the City of Romulus and the State of Michigan disapprove the abovementioned application for license to establish an Adult Foster Care Home."

"The communications gap is the biggest thing," commented Susie Ewell of Hunt Street. She said that no one seems to know much at all about the placing of the foster care home on Hunt Street and that there was a definite lack of information available.

"I work on the afternoon shift," she said. "I'd hate to come home, not knowing what I'd find. We don't know anything about the residents coming in. Who's coming in? Who's caring for them? Who's overseeing this operation? This area is not geared for this."

Cynthia Washington of Beverly Road spoke next. "It's invading our privacy. They should have come to us for consideration or ask us what we thought," she said. "The ditch is odorous. If they had a good place in Plymouth, why are they considering this house?"

A lady who has lived on Hunt Street since 1948 had concerns about a simple stroll around the block.

"I take a walk around the block — sometimes early, sometimes late, and I would like to continue to have that privilege."

She also expressed concern for the care of the occupants of the proposed home. "We visited a home for girls and they were heavily supervised, yet one scalded a supervisor with hot water. They need close supervision.

"Also, we denied a man building a store in our neighborhood because it wasn't suitable. I'm sorry for the situation and for the mentally retarded. But we'd like to have our community neighborhood left as it is," she explained.

Many in the audience applauded statements made by the residents or by Councilmen and Mayor Oakley. Some kept calling for Council to stop the home from going in. They were told that local communities have no jurisdiction over the homes, but simply have the opportunity to suggest denial of a license by the state.

Harry Nelson, who is very active in community affairs, stepped to the microphone and said what most of the people felt. "I think the people would like to have the elected officials take action," he said.

Mayor Pro-Tem Mary Ann Banks, who moderates Council meetings, replied, "We have taken action. We asked for a denial and we have asked for a moratorium."

Council Raspberry said he was placed in a dual role — as a councilman and as a resident who does not live very far from the proposed location. He recounted his personal objections, stating the small size of lot, loud train whistles blowing during the night, noisy airplanes flying low overhead and other distractions that he said made the house unsuitable. He questioned whether the house was up to code in all areas.

Councilman Ray Cantrell noted that neighboring Canton Township had taken legal action in regard to adult foster care homes and asked if Romulus should do the same.

Mayor Oakley urged Council to pass a motion strongly objecting to the placing of the foster care home at 6270 Hunt.

"The house is 24-by-30 feet and is not acceptable as a 3 bedroom home," he said. "Hunt Street cannot accommodate the traffic." He said that to re-occupy a house there had to be a Certificate of Occupancy and that the city might be able to have some control over the situation that way.

"Those homes are not big enough to house four people, whether they are physically or mentally handicapped," the mayor said. Mayor Oakley said he supported the concept of placing mentally retarded persons in a family home atmosphere — but he said the present state law had many flaws in it.

"I urge all those present and all the residents to write their state representatives, not necessarily opposing the idea of individual homes for these people, but opposing the fact that the state has made a law without making good provisions for it," Oakley said.

Cantrell and Raspberry suggested asking for a public hearing with those responsible for licensing the home.

Oakley disagreed, saying, "I think we have missed the point. I think it's their place to tell us this is a good place to put the foster care home. Let them justify it. If they want a public hearing, I think they are the ones who should ask for it, not us."

Proposed facilities (applications on file) include the following locations: 6270 Hunt Street; Ferndale Street, (east of Sharon, west of Goddard), 10005 Miriam and 29799 Ecorse Road. The application for an AFC home at 34184 Ecorse Road was recently withdrawn.

JOYCE PALMER... New Chamber President faces challenges

Joyce Palmer elected chamber commerce president

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Joyce Palmer, the newly elected President to the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce, is not only the first woman to head the business group but has boundless energy to accomplish many things.

"I am honored and very grateful to everyone for having faith in me," she said after being named Chamber President. "As president I will do my utmost to continue to achieve and carry on the fine work of Past President Gary Bingamen."

"My feelings are that Romulus has so much potential and I believe that we can make much progress and continue to make our city and its citizens proud," she said.

Mrs. Palmer has been a resident of Romulus for 12 years and she and her husband, Charles, have three sons, Joseph, John and Steven. She served as Secretary of the Chamber Executive Board for two years prior to being named to lead the organization.

She is owner and manager of Arc Real Estate, Inc. on Goddard Road at Wayne Road in Romulus. Through the years she has been very active in the community.

She is actively involved as secretary of the Romulus Central Business Association and is dedicated to its success. "Our goal is to revitalize the Downtown area setting to a theme of the early 1900's. In doing this, we hope to enhance other businesses to move into Romulus thereby giving the needed service to the citizens," she said.

"With this, we will hopefully see the Renaissance of downtown Romulus blossoming in a few months. It is essential to have this central business organization, eternally watching community welfare and development."

She called the Chamber of Commerce a viable group in the community. "With all of us — city, schools, citizens and businesses — working together, we will prosper," she said.

Prior to starting her own business at Arc Real Estate, Mrs. Palmer served the city as Director of the Romulus Neighborhood Center under two administrations. "I was very involved with the renovation of the Meadows Subdivision which led to my position with the city," she noted.

Mrs. Palmer has been appointed to serve on the Romulus Board of Review for the next three years. In addition to all her other activities, she served as President for 1980 with Al Matta Grotto Ladies Auxiliary, was on the board of directors of Western Wayne County YWCA and was very active for several years with Wayne County 4-H.

There's a saying that if you want something done, you ask a busy person. Since that is true, many believe the Chamber of Commerce has made a good choice in naming Mrs. Palmer as its president.

In addition to Mrs. Palmer being elected president, other Board of Directors officers and Executive Board officers were elected. Their names and businesses are Dennis Currier, 1st Vice-President, Michigan Oven; Bill Cox, 2nd vice-president, Farmers Insurance; Leo Kalota, treasurer, Manufacturers National Bank; Marilyn Moore, secretary, Moore Brothers Sand and Gravel, and Gary Bingamen, executive director, G.L. Bingamen Agency.

Nancy Gilmore, Performance Group, Inc.; Joe Demusky, Kelsey-Hayes; Bill Logan, Solventol Chemical; Dr. Ray Elwart, Romulus Chiropractic Clinic; Doug Todd, Federal Mogul; Jerry Mindey, Alert Glass; Felix Rogalle, attorney; Mel Morgan, Morgan-Lentine Investment Co.; Ted Dames, Metro Industrial Clinic; Tim Hellrung, and Jerry Hill, Detroit-Diesel Allison.

TERREL M. LeCESNE

School administrator's articles published by national journals

Terrel M. LeCesne, assistant supt. for personnel and employee relations for Romulus Community Schools, is becoming well-known for articles he has published in notable school journals.

His most recently authored treatise "Sexual Harassment: A Problem in the Workplace" appears in the March issue of Michigan School Board Journal. Another article, "Build Morale to Avoid Disciplining," is scheduled for the Spring issue of the Journal of the National School Development Council.

"I'm very pleased to have the article published in the Michigan School Board Journal because it is a widely recognized and prestigious journal in its field," LeCesne said.

LeCesne, in fact, was caught a little off guard when asked by the Romulus Roman if it could print his article for the people of Romulus to read. "I haven't even had a chance to see it yet and frankly, I didn't know for sure that it would be published this issue," said the surprised — and happy — administrator.

When asked why he wrote on Sexual Harassment, LeCesne noted a couple recent court cases and said, "The problem is there and management needs to deal with it in all forms of business."

In honor of National Library Week, "Friends of the Romulus Public Library" donated two signs publicizing the location of the reading facility. The signs were made by Sheldon Chandler and proceeds from the "Friends" used book sales paid for materials used in the signs, as well as for puppet collection additions, children's records and a large selection of educational toys. "Friends" helps with various children's programs in the library, will sponsor an Art Fair this year during the week of June 8. Their next book sale is April 28, 29 and 30. Shown by the new Library sign last week on Wayne Road near the library in front of Romulus City Hall, 11111 S. Wayne Road, are Glenn Free, DPW employee helping erect the sign, (from left), Gloria Chandler, president of Friends of the Library; Diane Hazen, head librarian; Jerry Szveda, DPW employee; and Mahor William Oakley. CETA co-ordinator Pat Hogan explains termination policy

At last week's City Council meeting, Mayor William Oakley was criticized for keeping three CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) workers employed after stating earlier they would be laid off.

Councilmen Edward Ruch and Jimmie C. Raspberry challenged the mayor, asking him where the money was coming from to pay the three CETA employees. After a long discussion, Council voted to table a motion of intent to transfer funds — asking the mayor to bring back a report to Council for last night's meeting.

Patrick A. Hogan is CETA Co-ordinator for Romulus and here is his explanation to Council of funding for the program in response to Mayor Oakley's request:

"This is in response to the questions which arose at the City Council Meeting of April 7, 1981, regarding CETA terminations and funding.

"Each year, the city is allocated funds from Title II and VI of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act appropriation. For the fiscal year October 1, 1980 through September 30, 1981 our community was allocated $132,457 in Title VI dollars. We then plan for the use of these funds, having in mind three main considerations: the needs of the community for services, employment opportunities and CETA rules and regulations. Accordingly, the plan was completed and submitted to the city council in early October.

"Since that time, several things have happened, not the least significant of which was a change in Washington Administration, which required alterations in that originally approved plan. The new administration has proposed a complete elimination of the Titles II and VI programs effective September 30, 1981. We were advised to take the steps we felt necessary to plan for that possibility. Complicating this difficult situation is the fact that in December, 1980, Congress failed to appropriate funds to continue the program to compensate communities which, for one reason or another, are required to pay unemployment to terminated CETA participants.

"We were therefore further advised that there may or may not be sufficient funds in this already established 'unemployment account' to compensate for terminated CETA participants. If there was not enough money, then the community would have to bear its own burden for unemployment.

"We were advised that the best estimates the Department of Labor had indicated that if all CETA participants nationwide were to be terminated on March 31, 1981, then sufficient funds would be available from the 'unemployment account' and unemployment fringes to cover all necessary costs. In

The bunniest of Easter Greetings to you

Local homes needed for exchange students

Would inviting someone from another part of the world to live with your family, share ideas, cultures, customs and language be of interest to you?

If so, you and your family may be interested in being a host family for an exchange student through the Youth for Understanding International Student Exchange Program.

This year, over 4,000 high school students will travel to the U.S.A. to live for a year with American families and share learning experience with them. The students are treated as members of the family, not as guests. The students bring with them their own spending money, and are fully covered by medical, dental, and liability insurance.

The host family provides the student with room and board and the same love and understanding that it provides their own children.

"Families in Michigan have been very receptive to our program and our foreign exchange students," states Diana Follebout, Michigan Director.

"Over the past four years we have had close to 3,200 international students placed with families throughout the state, in big cities, small towns, and rural communities. Volunteer Area Representatives are currently in the process of attempting to find families who may be interested in hosting one of the 650 students who will be coming to Michigan during August for a one year stay.

Mrs. Follebout explained: "These students come from 26 countries, are 14-18 years of age, and are eager to learn and share. Carsten Germer is a 17-year-old boy from Denmark who is looking forward to his American experience. His father is in the Royal Danish Army and his mother is a physiotherapist.

The family is completed by an 18-year-old brother. Carsten is a good student who has studied English for 7 years, German for 5 and French for 1. An avid soccer player, he also enjoys model building, drawing, photography, music, and fishing. Carsten is an active member of his town's youth club and considers himself to be an outdoor person.

"I would say that Carsten is fairly typical of most of our students. Both boys and girls are interested in learning about America, about what makes us tick, and to show us who and what they are," continues Mrs. Follebout. "Anyone interested in finding out more about what it is to be a host family and to learn more about Carsten or other students should feel free to call me at 517-777-4420. We will be more than happy to explain the program to anyone."

Would you believe it?

Pointing to the state of West Virginia, 6-year-old Jimmy Manetta discovered that the balloon he launched last week from Hale Creek School coasted all the way to Pinch, West Virginia where Debbie and Ken O'Dell retrieved it. Jimmy's balloon, sent afloat in conjunction with Weekly Reader's national program, carried the farthest among the more than 400 balloons.

Belleville man chairs St. Jude Bike-A-Thon

Ted Clayton has agreed to the chairmanship of the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Bike-A-Thon in Belleville, to raise funds to support the hospital, according to William J. Kirwen, Director of Development at the internationally recognized hospital.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which affect our children. St. Jude's is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory and completely free of charge to all patients.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians are working side by side seeking not only better means of treatment, but also the cause, cure, and prevention of these terrible killers.

All findings and information gained at St. Jude's are shared freely with doctors and hospitals the world over.

What's up, doc?

Are you over 18-years of age and interested in a para-professional career in the medical field? Then, April 28, 29, and 30 are the dates you can take the free basic entry test for the courses beginning in September. The Detroit Public Schools' Majeske Adult Education Center offers these classes.

HOW MUCH ABOUT DEATH CAN A CHILD UNDERSTAND?
The young child of three to five usually understands little of death and seems to be disturbed about it for only a short time or for short intervals.
The child from five to nine may express guilt remembering past feelings and quarrels with the deceased. They will be very much influenced by the way in which adults in the family behave during the death and funeral.
Of utmost importance to children of any age is that they receive the support of a loving adult to help sort out their feelings, assure them that they are in no way responsible for the death, and encourage them to share their feelings with you.
If you have a question feel free to contact us. Sometimes we can be of help in lightening your load in these intensely personal situations.

Agencies seek closer cooperation

Is county 'skipping families in desperate need of help?'

State Director of the $1.4 billion Wayne County Social Service Department, Robert Little, this week asked members of the County's Human Resources Committee for closer cooperation between county departments and his own to avoid the chance of skipping those families in desperate need of help.

"As an example," he told the committee headed by Commissioner Kay Beard, "We have very poor communication with those who keep records of deaths within the county. If a person already on welfare or accepting some sort of social services dies, it deprives another family of assistance."

Beard made it clear the so-called Wayne County Social Service programs are not the responsibility of the county, but rather come under state jurisdiction.

"Because it is referred to as the Wayne County Social Service Department," she added, "many people are confused and blame their county commissioners for whatever problems prevail within the social service system."

Little displayed a summary of the department's service activities revealing heavy increases in three of the four major programs: AFDC (Aid to Dependent Children); GA (General Assistance); and ENP, (Emergency Service); and a sharp rise in requests for help from the Romulus, Inkster and Sumpter Township districts.

AFDC families, numbering 100,344 and costing $39.4 million monthly, rose by nearly 10 percent in January. General Assistance programs increased by 46 percent and cost $10.4 million; while emergency help rose 67 percent, it's total per month was the least costly of all, $1.5 million. Surprisingly enough, the food stamp program (SSI) fell 3.7 percent to $6.9 million.

As the economy continues to stumble along, particularly in the Wayne County area, medical programs for those unemployed or uninsured families requiring help at the county's General Hospital in Westland jumped 44 percent. The federal government's medicaid program was up slightly for January, costing $33.4 million.

Little told Commissioner Norbert Wisniewski his department had excellent cooperation from the county's General Hospital and child support cases were receiving quick court action, but, there were still problems relating to incarcerations in the county jail.

Questioned on President Ronald Reagan's "workfare" proposal, Little said it should be approached with caution. "Unless properly supervised, the 'workfare' concept can present problems of displacement among those already working and will not be productive."

Speaking to Commissioner William Runco's question, Little said there are two types of factions: "One wants people off welfare — period — and the other wants to use 'workfare' as a means of getting some sort of production from those who accept welfare services but make no contribution whatsoever to the community."

"There will be difficult times ahead," Little said, "and we can't afford the luxury of having each agency going it's own way."

Of the $1.4 billion budget, $1.3 billion goes directly into social service programs, $92 million fund the department's 4,400 state employees who work within the county, and $13 million is used for administrative overhead. Little noted that of all the families receiving help in Wayne County, 80 percent live in Detroit. "Our budget is such," he added, "that we cannot increase child-care levels and we expect significant cutbacks in food stamp benefits."

Local Girl Scouts hold recognition meeting

Belleville, Romulus Huron girls honored

International friendship and recognition of girls and adults were the highlights of Huron Valley Girl Scout Council's 1981 Annual Meeting.

Over 300 attended the April 7 evening meeting at Win Schuler's Restaurant in Ann Arbor. Junior Troop 223 of Ypsilanti sang "You Light Up My Life" in sign language for the Opening Ceremony.

Forty-eight First Class Girl Scouts (First Class being one of the highest awards in Girl Scouting) were honored for their hard work and dedication. First Class recipients from Ann Arbor were: Carrie and Maggie Miller, Beth Apley and Sheila Hatch, all of Cadette Troop 40, Mary Ann Pierce and Robin Wheeler, leaders; Denise Polcyn, Stephanie Taylor, Sandy Corwin and Amy Sweet of Cadette Troop 99, Connie and Jim Taylor, leaders; and Robin Russell, Marilyn McRitchie and Nancy Worth of Cadette Troop 235, with Rhoda Green and Paul Howell serving as leaders.

Honored from the Plymouth-Northville-Canton Area were Suzanne Gibbons of Cadette Troop 346 in Canton, Nellie Richardson leader; and Shelly Curd of Troop 367 in Plymouth, Romaine Kling, Esther Nelson and Carol Curd, leaders.

Twenty-one girls from the Southern Wayne Monroe County Area were honored. Twenty of these girls were from Troop 262, Yvonne Campeau and June LaBene, leaders. This is the largest number ever recognized at one time from a single troop or Area Association. First Class Scouts were: Robin Grimm, Wendy Cripps, of Belleville; Terri Fisher, Yvette Campeau, Julie LaBenne, Julie Schramm and Michelle Busard of Romulus; Lynda Carlini, Lesa Dyer, Angela Karafa, Faith Saulsgiver, Sheila Stroud, Wendy Lancaster, Anne Kosachett, Lori Barbour, Demara Kamosen, Pam Roberts, Julie Nagy, Donna Jesse and Debbie Yeager all of New Boston.

Shirley Martizer from Cadette Troop 285 in Carleton is also a First Class Scout honored from the Southern Wayne-Monroe Area.

Huron Valley is fortunate to have a large number of hard working, energetic, dedicated adults serving it's nearly 10,000 girl members. Recognition for outstanding adult support was given to six members at this meeting.

Arlene Schmid of Ann Arbor was awarded the Thanks Badge, the highest award of appreciation in adult Girl Scouting "for the 20 years Arlene has been an inspiration to all those fortunate enough to come in contact with her. She has been on the 'front line' as a leader of troops all the time, including the last eight as Senior Adviser.

In addition, she has been an Adviser to the Huron Valley Hikers since 1968. In both capacities she has been an outstanding asset to our Council, providing not only a fine example of thoughtful commitment and timeless energy, but real life guidance to numerous young people," stated the Volunteer Personnel Committee.

Ken Hulsing of Plymouth was also awarded the Thanks Badge. He has served well as Chairman of the Council Finance Committee, Chairman of the Camp Development and Maintenance Committee and as a Board Member for five years. He is always willing to do anything and has done much behind-the-scenes to keep Huron Valley financially sound, including United Way Budget presentations and as a member of the Detroit United Community Services Speaker's Bureau. Ken also served on the five council merger committee.

The second highest award, the Fran Bauer Humanitarian Award, was given to Sally Nitzel of Wayne for fairness, kindness, dedication and humaneness. She has for a long time led Girl Scouts at all levels, served on the Board of Directors as Field Vice-president, has supervised her Area Nominating Committees, Chairs the Area Chairman Team, is a trainer, and always gives her honest opinion. Her support and enthusiasm has been invaluable to all Girl Scouts.

Three Council Adult Appreciation Pins were awarded. Anita Apley of Ann Arbor was honored for her dedicated service in many capacities including Brownie and Junior Troop Committee member, Assistant Leader, Cadette Leader, Area Cookie Chairman, and most recently and appreciatively as Council Cookie Chairman.

Peg Dice, also of Ann Arbor, received this pin by bringing to the Board of Directors as an officer, her extensive Girl Scout background and experience in working with young people. Huron Valley benefited from her perspective. Her services to the Council through the years has been given unstintingly.

Joan Bondie of Belleville, the Huron Valley Council Secretary, has made a great impact on both staff and volunteers. She is probably most volunteers' "first person" resource in regard to the office. She is willing to help anyone, anytime with anything at all.

Views On Dental Health

By PHILIP MEIZELS, D.D.S.

DENTAL X-RAYS

For a dentist to conduct a complete dental examination without using dental x-rays, is like watching TV with your eyes closed. "Why", you may ask, "can't the dentist use his eyes and trusty mirror to do the same diagnosis?" Because, as the "unsinkable" Titanic discovered, like icebergs, most serious dental trouble is beneath the surface and out of view. Dental x-rays often reveal beginning decay between the teeth or beneath a filling or at the bottom of a narrow pit or groove in the chewing surface. The amount of bone supporting teeth that has been destroyed by periodontal disease, the development of root abscesses and cysts, the presence of unerupted teeth or broken root fragments or impacted teeth can only readily be determined by x-rays since these abnormalities are normally hidden from view. With modern, shielded equipment and high speed x-ray film, only a very small amount of x-ray radiation is required to take a complete set of pictures. It's than we normally receive from illuminated watch faces. The X-ray camera is one of the dentist's most valuable diagnostic tools.

A public service to promote better dental health. From the office of PHILIP MEIZELS, D.D.S., 9840 Hoggerty Rd., Belleville. Phone 697-4400.

How will air, area be affected?

Council studies sludge compost amendment

Romulus City Council is studying a proposed zoning ordinance amendment that would permit, "after special approval," a sludge composting plant in the city.

The proposed amendment has been approved by the Planning Commission and would make sludge composting subject to the following standards:

(1) The site shall have a minimum of thirty-five (35) acres and have direct access and all access routes on Class A Wayne County Roads or local roads which meet Class A standards.

(2) To ensure that the reasonable use of adjoining properties is not affected and to reduce the potential for adverse health or odor impacts, the property lines encompassing the proposed use shall only abut industrially-zoned land and, in addition, the following separation distances shall be observed:

— 2,640 feet from the property lines of any residentially-zoned district, major medical facility, nursing home, or senior housing project;

— 1,320 feet from the property lines of any facility which is designed for use by the physically infirm or where large numbers of people congregate, such as senior recreation centers, public meeting halls, churches, schools, and libraries;

— 300 feet from the property lines of any RC, C-1, C-2, C-3, O-1, or BT District.

Additionally, the City shall determine that the proposed use shall not adversely affect non-conforming residential uses and that adequate separation is provided from existing industrial uses that may be particularly sensitive, such as food, beverage or drug processing plants, or industries which employ large numbers of people.

The separation distances specified above may be reduced by not more than fifty (50) percent upon a finding by the Planning Commission and City Council that the reduced isolation distances are sufficient to prevent any occurrence of health or obnoxious odor problems.

(3) All processing, treatment, unloading, and final product storage shall be within a completely enclosed building.

Vehicles used to transport sludge to the site shall provide for the completely enclosed, sealed containment of the sludge such as provided by concrete transit mix trucks or similar vehicles having a completely enclosed, sealed container, the intent being to prevent any leakage of the sludge material. Open box dump trucks with tarpaulin/canvas covering are prohibited.

(4) No structures, parking area, retention basins, or facilities shall be located within one hundred (100) feet of the front property line. Such area, exclusive of access drives, shall be landscaped, planted open space.

Additionally, a six (6) foot decorative masonry wall or a five (5) foot landscaped earthen berm shall be constructed in this front yard area parallel to and along the front property line.

(5) A fifty (50) foot side yard setback for all structures, parking areas, retention basins and other facilities shall be required. Along the sides and rear of the developed portion of the property, a six (6) foot masonry wall or five (5) foot earthen berm shall be provided.

The top of all berms shall be landscaped with trees and shrubs to provide a permanent and uninterrupted screen of vegetation at least four (4) feet in height. Except where a wall is provided, the developed portion of the site shall be enclosed by a six (6) foot chain link fence.

(6) In order to fully assess all implications and effects of the project, an in-depth environmental impact assessment shall be prepared and submitted for review to the City. Such an assessment shall include at least the following:

A full description of the proposed project including:

- The type, characteristics, and design of the project and an analysis of the sewage sludge to be composted;
- The activities to be generated by the project during construction and after it is in operation;
- The County, State, and Federal reviews and approvals which will be required, including supporting data and documents to secure such approvals.

A full description of the natural environment of the existing site and then immediate area in terms of overall natural pattern, types of land, area, topography, drainage, water resources, vegetation, wildlife, geologic features and resources, natural appearance, and general environmental quality.

A full description of the social and constructed environmental characteristics of the site and surrounding area in terms of population, patterns of development, housing, commercial trade and service, office, industry, transportation, utilities, facilities, public services, and general quality of development.

A full description of the impact of the development of the natural and socio-economic environment including impact on human life, wildlife, fish, aquatic life, and other eco-systems and air, water, groundwater, subsoil, and land resources, and on the community aesthetics, image, finances, and property values.

The program will center on presenting less expensive ways to incorporate protein into the diet. Discussion on what takes up a proper diet so will be given.

Boyes states "many people feel that they have to eat meat every day to receive the protein they need. We'll discuss how this is not true and give alternatives that will be less expensive."

The program is free and open to the public. The Oakwood Family Medical Center is located at 19130 Sumpter Road; telephone 699-2094.

Rush, Raspberry clash with Mayor Oakley over CETA program

funds). "We're not eliminating these three positions."

By this time, Oakley was visibly upset and angry. In measured tones he said, "I have the money to pay these three CETA people. I can show you there is money to pay these three employees. If I had a Bible, I'd swear on it right now."

Rush needed the mayor a little further by suggesting, "Here's the City Charter," holding up the document.

Oakley continued, "Since I've asked this girl (secretary) to come in, may I have Council's permission to hire her?"

Rush, who seemed to take delight in questioning the mayor, continued to pound away on the theme that Oakley had not informed the Council that he had kept three CETA workers employed after he stated he was terminating them as of March 31.

Oakley replied again that he did it under management's responsibility and that there was enough money in CETA funds to pay for them. CETA is funded by the federal government with local governments allocating whatever amounts they desire to add to the CETA workers' salary and benefits. However, in this case, Oakley said CETA funds were adequate to pay all of the money needed for the three retained employees as well as paying unemployment through Sept. 30 of those laid off.

The heated discussion between Rush, Raspberry and Oakley continued for nearly 45 minutes until Oakley said he was "tired of playing games." "I'd rather have my sleep than play here," he said disgustedly as he gestured toward the clock on the wall. The clock read 10:40 p.m.

Councilman Ray Cantrell commented, "Bill, I know you've said it three or four times — there is money in CETA to pay these people?"

Oakley repeated again that there were funds enough to pay the CETA workers, explained that he should have notified Council that he was retaining the three employees and said no city money was needed. He finished his explanation by saying, "... there's supposed to be enough money to pay the CETA workers."

Rush picked up on the phrase "supposed to be" and repeated it. "Supposed to be, doesn't he know?"

Oakley, who was thoroughly disgusted at what he thought were Rush's political games, replied sarcastically, "I told you what I knew a few minutes ago and you wouldn't believe me, what difference does it make?"

Councilman Gerry Canejo moved to table the motion to transfer funds until the Mayor clarifies the CETA employe situation. The motion to table passed 4-2, with Canejo, Cantrell, Richard Yerman and Mayor Pro-Tem Mary Ann Banks voting "yes" and Rush and Raspberry dissenting.

After the vote, Raspberry challenged Mrs. Banks, asking her what she intended to do and how Council could know there was enough money to pay the CETA workers.

"I believe the mayor is a man of honor and very trustworthy," she answered.

"That's all well and good," Raspberry replied, "but that doesn't prove that the money is there."

Committee recommends closing of school

the other was to transfer 9th graders into the High School, leaving the 7th and 8th grade at North. After listening to arguments on both sides, the committee felt the 9th grade transfer to the High School made the most sense.

Another concern was what would happen to the building once it was no longer occupied by students. It appears that an arrangement can be worked out in which half of it would be used by a County Program and the other half for a Community Education Center so that it will not stand vacant.

The Community Program gives 15 percent of its operating budget to any school district housing the activity; that offsets the operating cost of the building. It is hoped that the Community Education portion of the building with become a "Day Center" for senior citizens and other people in the downtown Romulus area. It's possible to get State financing for many of these programs if they are directed towards achieving a high school diploma.

The actual motion of recommendation to the Board read as follows: "Move that the Building Consolidation Committee recommend to the Romulus Community Schools' Board of Education that the financial deficits make it necessary to close a junior high school; that South

Junior High School be closed and 9th grade students placed in the Romulus Senior High School with no loss of programming to any student."

Chairman Raëck indicated that the Building Consolidation Committee will continue to meet and work on the possibility of further building consolidations. Information as to the next committee meeting for interested citizens can be obtained by calling the Superintendent's Office at 941-1600.

Medicare takes 6 weeks to process

Q: When I reached age 65, I applied for social security benefits just to get Medicare. I made too much money to get any benefits, but I was told that my benefits would be figured as if I were receiving benefits. Now I understand it is possible to get Medicare only. Can I change my application?

A: Yes, you can withdraw your application for benefits and still keep your Medicare protection.

Q: I just applied for Medicare. How long will it be before I get my Medicare card?

A: If you meet all the requirements and your application is approved, it will be at least 6 weeks before you receive your health insurance card.

Q: I am almost 66 years old, but I have never gotten around to applying for social security benefits. If I apply now, can I get benefits back to when I was 65?

A: Beginning March 1, you can receive retirement benefits for only up to 6 months before the month you apply. If you had filed your application before March 1, you could have been paid for up to 12 months before the month you filed as long as you met all the eligibility requirements for social security benefits.

Do you have a question about social security? Write Ms. Frances Heimes-Savickis at the Social Security Administration, P.O. Box 411, Inkster, Michigan 48141.

CETA policy

other words, we were encouraged to terminate wherever possible.

"In addition, we have been advised that, after all Congressional-Administration negotiations are completed, there exists a good chance that the Title II program would continue at a lower level of funding, and that Title VI would be eliminated entirely.

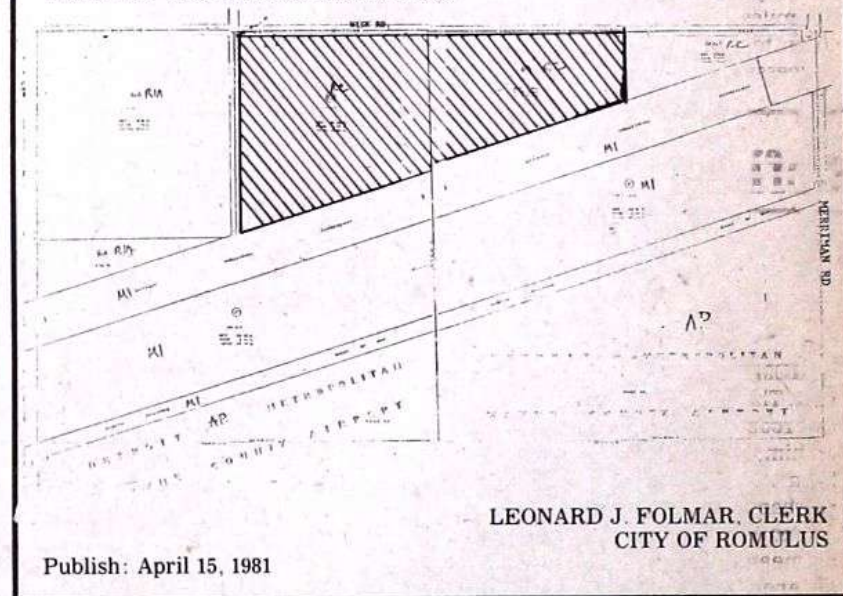

"When all of the above very complex factors were considered in great depth, it was our best judgment that the best way to administer the program, taking into account dollars, services, employment and unemployment, we took the action that we did.

"We then informed the Wayne County Employment and Training Administration of the breakdowns of the dollars which will be spent in wages, fringes, Training and Administration and also how much would be needed for unemployment.

"Therefore, at this point, it appears that we will be able to keep the CETA participants we presently have until September 30, 1981, pay them from CETA funds, and will not have obligated any city general fund money for them or any of the other's unemployment. As we see it, therefore, there exists no reason for the council to take any action to allocate general fund dollars."

Injured pony - do what's humane

EDITOR — I felt compelled to respond to a letter printed in the March 26 Associated Newspapers' criticizing the Romulus Dog Warden and the Wayne County Sheriffs for shooting a mortally injured possum on McBride Street.

I, too, am a resident of Romulus and have a similar incident to report — the difference being that the deputies involved acted with the utmost consideration for both the feelings of the people and the injured animal.

This tragic incident happened at 8:30 p.m. on Friday night last November at Merriman and Henry Ruff in Romulus. A small shetland pony escaped from her pasture, was struck by a car and hurled into a ditch. The Wayne County Sheriff deputies that responded to the call waded into the cold water and mud to get the pony's head up out of the water and attempted to get her out.

They reached the owner, who lives 10-miles away, and obtained permission to have the pony destroyed if necessary. A representative of the owner went down into the mud, again with a sheriff, to confirm that the pony's rear leg and spine were shattered. At this point, the representative, aghast at the pony's misery, broke down and began to cry. The sheriff comforted her and put her in the back of the patrol car, while they went back to shoot the pony. There was no question of a ricochet as the sheriff waded back into the mud to put the muzzle of the revolver against the pony's temple.

Throughout, the sheriffs acted with kindness, extreme politeness and compassion.

Appalled Citizen, do you really think the most HUMANE thing to do would have been to move the injured, undomesticated animal? What if the pain-ridden possum had bitten the dog warden or sheriff? And finally, whose "field" do you feel would have been suitable for the shooting?

As to your final question regarding why three deputies responded to the call, I would hazard a guess the third was Reserve Office, not a full fledged deputy.

I would hope that those "impressionable minds" you were concerned about, learned that ending a "helpless animals" pain is more important than shuffling the animal out of sight!

Dems say 'Thank you'

EDITOR — The Metro-Wayne Democratic Club would like to thank The Associated Newspapers for its coverage of the Metro-Wayne Democratic Club's 1981 Spring Fling dinner dance.

We also would like to thank all the merchants who donated prizes and gifts for the door.

We also would like a special thanks to go out to Steins Florists and Rush Florists for the beautiful flowers they donated for the occasion.

And also to the Ansara brothers, in making the party as successful as it was; Don McKenzie, for the beautiful cake presented to our State Senator William Faust and also we want to thank all the people in the community for coming out to support this event: 442 people were present at this event. We thank you again folks for your support.

How about Social Security

EDITOR — The social security program as it now exists is in dire straits and the President and Congress want to revamp this program and even want to merge this program with another retirement system.

The reason for this dilemma can be summed up in one word "HOW".

An explanation follows: when the Social Security program was envisioned and put into practice the sole purpose of this program was to pay the employees working under this system a monthly sum of money up retirement.

If the participant in this program died, the wife, next of kin, or children would receive the money.

From its inception, as the money flowed into this program and accumulated faster than it was dispersed, other avenues were conjured up to be put under Social Security.

Whenever a program was in need of money the President and Congress would ask "How" to finance the program. Each time this happened they would dip into the social security fund.

More on gun control

EDITOR — In regards to your editorial about gun control leads me to ask you how would you ban hand guns?

If we law abiding citizens would turn in our hand guns and the punks keep theirs, what would you do to the punks if they get caught with a gun? Slap them on the wrist and say naughty boy?

We have laws that ban heroin, cocaine, and all dope! And the dope traffic is running rampant in every city and town in America. My question to you is if dope is banned from the citizens of America and the law can't do anything about it what makes you think a ban on hand guns would do any good?

The answer to the problem is lock the people up who commit a crime with a gun and throw away the key with no hope of ever getting out jail. We have too many yellow-bellied judges who are concerned only with the criminal rights, what about the poor victims rights?

Your editorials should read something like this: 'Lock up the punks who use a gun for criminal purpose. Pass a federal law that would give a minimal jail sentence of 10-years to death for the use of a gun in crime.'

On modular scheduling

Editor — Now is all comes out. Why didn't the Plymouth-Canton Superintendent and the School Board not want to make a study of Split Sessions at the high schools?

They knew that if the 9th graders left the Park and took with them the teaching staff that were not trained in the Modular Scheduling Program this program could be implemented in September of 1981.

Let me caution you, it will not be called Modular Scheduling. It will have a new name and a new face.

I do not have a child at the high school now but had two involved with the high school when Modular Scheduling was in effect.

Both children ended up in private schools or they would never have had degrees now. This program was great for some kids but for the majority it is not a good program.

Please, parents do not allow this to come about at the Park — call your Universities, law enforcement agencies — private high schools and ask any organization that has to do with the education of high school students they will tell you all about MODULAR SCHEDULING.

This is not rumor — this was information given to me by the Administration in our school system.

Too many county commissioners

EDITOR — The Wayne County Charter Commission has voted in committee to continue the Wayne County Board of Commissioners at its present strength of 27 members.

I feel very strongly that 27 members of the County Board would be 14 too many. The Board needs a smaller group of members if it is to function effectively. Thirteen members would be an appropriate number.

I would hope that residents of my district would write me at 726 City-County Building, Detroit, 48226 if they agree with the need for a reduction in the number of Commissioners. I will see that their letters are delivered to the Charter Commission.

Additionally, I feel it necessary to remind the voters in my district, which is the largest in Wayne County with nearly 180,000 residents, that the vote to approve the charter is headed for scheduling at the same time as the City of Detroit holds its election this Fall. This means a charter could very well be adopted that will suit the Mayor of Detroit without consideration to the rapid growth in out-County.

As a long time supporter of county reform through an elected county executive, I hope that those of us in out-County desiring a real change in County government are prepared to mount a massive campaign this Fall to insure a large turnout.

Again, if you have any comments regarding the Charter, you may feel free to call on me or to contact your Charter Commissioner, Bart Berg of Canton Township.

Program praised

EDITOR — I am a student enrolled in the "Occupational Therapy" program at Schoolcraft Community College. For credit in fieldwork, I observe the Visually Impaired Senior Citizens once a week at the Westland Department of Aging, Friendship Center. The center is professionally managed and well suited to the needs of the elderly.

Throughout the past three months of my observation, my interaction with the citizens has convinced me of the great need the center fulfills in the community.

The retired and handicapped participants are offered safe transportation to the SEMTA buses, interaction and socialization with their peers and participation in learning skills. The personal satisfaction which overcomes the citizens each time I have observed them, convinces me of the vital importance of Westland Friendship Center.

If this center closes as planned in June, what is going to happen to these people and where are they going to go? Many of the citizens attend various times during the week, not just on my observation day. They speak proudly of the center and to many, it is the highlight of their week. I believe it has been a great asset in overcoming the fear of their handicaps and has made them aware of their potential, participating with others with similar infirmities.

I hope that the Westland City Council will take a close look at this problem. The economic situation is hurting us all, some more than others.

Thank you for your consideration.

Reflections

An alcoholic asks for a sign

HEMET, CALIF. — Buck has just left. This big, beautiful man who fills the room, not only because of the size of him, but because of the essence of him . . . the essence of goodness, perhaps, even of spirituality.

For Buck met an overwhelming, demeaning problem head-on, conquered it and spends his days reaching out to others who have a need they have no way of filling.

Buck is an alcoholic and yet I had no idea that I was opening the door to a man who had gone down into the depth of hell, and who, in one blinding flash of inspiration, beat out the flames of hell, and conquered.

None of this did I know that bright, shiny morning when he stood on the doorsteps of my sister's home, his white, snowy shirtfront peeping from a bright red sweater; his cowboy hat in his hands and the glow on his smooth-shaven face coming from something other than the bright sun overhead.

He had come to see Glenn, and as I led him back to the bedroom and heard he and Glenn exchange greetings, I knew that this was someone special in my brother-in-law's life.

It was several days before I heard Buck's story, and that happened one evening as he came into the living room after his visit with Glenn. Tears were rolling down his cheeks, and he took out his handkerchief and blew his nose with a vigor that was not astounding in a man of his size, but touched the heart anyway. Maybe, because of the tears.

"I can't believe it," he said, blowing his nose again and stretching his long legs out into the room. "It just doesn't seem possible."

He didn't need to say more. We knew what he was feeling and we knew that he was sensing darkness creeping slowly, ever slowly, into our midst.

And in the way that happens when people are drawn together in sorrow, we began talking, talking about ourselves, and it was on that evening that I learned what it was that one could feel in this man without ever knowing the full story.

It had all began a long, long time ago, when he was very young and had become somewhat of a star on the rodeo circuit. The hard-work, the glamor, the glory of it all was almost more than a young man could cope with, and particularly was it difficult to cope with the hard drinking that went on with the rodeo 'stars' after a performance.

Slowly, insidiously, the alcohol took hold. No one really realized it, least of all, himself, for it was the way with the rodeo people, to drink hard, live hard, work hard and play hard.

Somewhere along about there he met Mary, who became the love of his life, and who still stands and works beside him with love and giving. But it wasn't always easy, for Buck did, indeed, descend into hell, and there were times when he forgot his wife and his children in pursuit of a good, long drink.

Many years passed and then finally, one night seven years ago, when Buck was at the point of absolute despair, he started home and just before he was to make the turn for that home, he veered into the opposite direction for 'just one drink' at his favorite bar.

He grasped the steering wheel hard, sweat poured off his forehead; he knew he was doing wrong, he knew he was not going to make it home that night, and he knew it was coming close to the time when he was going to lose Mary, his children and his home.

"If there is a God," he cried, "then take this awful thing from me." Tears rolled down his cheeks, and his hair fell down over his eyes.

"My God," he breathed. "Take it from me." And at that moment he rounded a curve and there before him was a huge sign with the words, "Acknowledge me in all ways."

A sign! Buck's brain burst in multi-colored lights. There was a God! He had given a sign! And he turned his car around in the middle of that street and went home.

Seven years ago and he has never had a drink since. He conquered, with God's help, which he is quick to remind you. And he has spent that seven years with Alcoholics Anonymous, reaching out a helping hand to others in despair.

His night sleep is often broken by a cry for help, and he has been known to spend long, long hours with other souls who are enmeshed in that living hell called alcoholism.

"I figure I was given the inspiration to quit and it has become my responsibility to help others. To always be there in their need."

In the many weeks that I have been here I have been immersed in the miracle of living and caring. Perhaps the environment of this little gem surrounded by mountains lends itself to the easy awareness of the brotherhood of man. Of the needs of others. Perhaps it is in this tranquil place that the new age of awareness has an easy birth. Whatever it is, I will come back to my home in Michigan a different person than I was when I left that long ago day in January 1981.

CAROL PREMO, PhD

there, the teacher could be a good source of information. Teachers are generally aware of what is going on in the school lives of their pupils.

Teachers can also make a referral to a school social worker who can help with problems such as school adjustment.

Ask Carol Premo

Child hates school

Dear Carol,

My five-year-old daughter suddenly hates to go to school. Since September she has absolutely loved it, hates to miss a day and even begs to go when she is not feeling well.

Now she fights going every inch of the way, refusing to get dressed, eat breakfast, etc. I am at my wits end.

I have three other younger children at home and this problem adds to the general morning chaos.

I have asked her what is wrong, what has happened at school. She says nothing has happened and she hates school and does not ever want to go back.

What should I do now?

Mother

Dear Mother,

You have a number of different options, but do not be surprised if as you seek an answer to your problem, you discover that it has nothing to do with the school.

School "phobia", or fear of going to school, is generally characterized by actions like screaming in the morning, refusal to leave for school — all the symptoms you describe.

However, it is frequently discovered that the child's fear is not founded in going to school but in leaving home.

There is a fear of desertion or abandonment, that the parents or loved ones will not be there on their return from school. It is associated with a growing sense of insecurity on the child's part.

Has there been any recent incident in the child's life which could be particularly upsetting? Death of a loved one, divorce, or strong punishment can all contribute. If the problem is school phobia, counseling with a therapist trained to work with children and perhaps family therapy would be indicated.

However, if it has to do with the school and your child's experience containing all their worldly goods, "assuming," said one spokesman, "that the streets are paved with gold."

Well, they are paved with gold for the professionals, the engineers, the accountants, the chemists and the computer experts, but for the run-of-the-mill factory worker, they want it made clear that there just aren't any factories down there.

At least, not yet.

And if, by some chance, the factory worker is fortunate enough to find a job similar to the one he left, he can expect to make anywhere from $5 to $10 an hour less than he made in Michigan. There are few unions down there, you see, and they seem to like it that way just fine.

I did a little rundown on the 120 pages of ads and this is what I came up with: Professional (managers, supervisors, consultants, etc.) 22pp Engineering - Technical 20 pp Data Processing (computer operators, programmers, etc.) 10 pp Admin. - financial (accountants, auditors, analysts) 5½ pp Sales 7½ pp Office - clerical 25 pp Crafts-skills-trades (machinists, toolmakers, welders) 9 pp Medical 8 pp Misc. (hairstylists, food service, maintenance, etc.) 13 pp Good news for teachers is that there is a critical enough shortage for recruiters to be combing the northern countryside for candidates. And clericals are in such demand that, if I can believe the personnel placement ads, beginner receptionists can start at $10,000 to $12,000 a year.

That's the good news — if you happen to be one of those people. The bad news is that Houston hasn't yet made ready for all their guests. The housing boom of two years ago is fast becoming a shortage, the small-townish mass transit system is woefully inadequate, making horrendous traffic jams a way of life, and sewage and flooding problems keep maintenance crews working overtime.

In addition, the city of Houston is regularly running TV ads pleading for additional police recruits to help with the growing problem of crime.

Still, with all its faults, a city in the sunny southwest with a newspaper that can carry 120 pages of employment ads has to look good to someone out of work in Detroit with no likely prospects.

And Houston wants you — that's clear. They're even going so far as to retrain in some instances. But they're also asking that you take your time, do a lot of research, and don't burn all your bridges behind you.

Clearly, this is a big step to take, and more and more of you are taking it. So maybe we should talk some more about this. Have you been to Texas and are back again? Or are you planning to go? Do you have a job waiting?

Do you know someone who is down there now? Are they making it? What are they doing? Write me in care of this newspaper and we'll do a local follow-up in a few weeks...if the response is there.

Storm warnings in the sun belt?

The March 29 issue of the Houston Chronicle carried 120 pages of employment ads. No, that's not a typo...120 pages! It boasts the largest classified ad section of any paper in the country. (The same week's Detroit News carried 17½ pages.)

Big things are happening in Houston and apparently the folks up north have gotten the word. The Chronicle says that in the last six months, their Sunday sales in Michigan have leaped from about 200 to 3,000 papers a week.

The Little Professor bookstore in Dearborn alone has a guaranteed sellout of their 1,000-plus weekly order, sometimes within the same day of arrival. That, in addition to their 800 or 900 copies of the Dallas Morning News.

At first it was kind of fun, those Houstonians being the big chasses, but now they're wondering if 120 pages of employment opportunities isn't carrying southern hospitality a little too far.

There's consternation down there in oil country. The front page headlines of that same issue of the Chronicle read, "New 'Okie' comes from Michigan and Houston is his California".

Inside, article headlines read: "New 'Okies' swarm from Michigan to Houston's job-rich land of plenty"; "Houston, Dallas papers snapped up in Michigan"; "Snow Belt exodus — Why 1,000 a week stream here — jobs", and, "Hillbillies in Michigan, Yankees here".

The gist of it all is that the jobless from the north are swarming into Texas without so much as a hint of a job. They're coming in vans and pickup trucks

Real talent rests in his hands

Banjos are special project

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

Wiley Blevins learned his trade many years ago in Big Stone Gap, Virginia. Today, at the age of 82, he's still putting his talents to good use.

Blevins' talents rest in his hands, which have produced wood-carved products for family and friends. Why even Henry Ford purchased a dining room set Blevins worked on at a furniture shop in 1920.

But his real pride and joy are a couple of handcrafted banjos that now are prized family possessions.

"I had planned to give this to the Grand Old Opry," says Blevins, showing his visitor a banjo made from maple and walnut wood. "A neighbor offered me $500 for it but I decided to keep it in the family. I worked on this banjo for 19 years on and off.

"Now it belongs to our son, Jack." Blevins and his wife, Jennie, are the parents of four children. Daughter Helen has an electric banjo constructed from scratch by her father and daughter Shirley owns a Blevins' made violin. Another son, Emery, resides in Alabama.

Born and raised in the small town of Big Stone Gap, Blevins held jobs as a carpenter and blacksmith before moving north. In 1964 he retired from a position with a steel heat treating plant.

Now he spends much of his retirement time in his workshop, creating wood products with his various tools and lathe. Despite suffering from arthritis in his hands, Blevins also looks forward to working with his wife in the garden of their Westland home.

But why make banjos?

"It's something to do," he replies. "I don't play that great but I like the sounds of a banjo or fiddle. When I see something in a store, I'd rather go home and make it rather than buy it. I've been doing that all my life."

'When I see something in a store, I'd rather go home and make it rather than buy it. I've been doing that all my life.'

One look at Blevins' banjos reveals the hours of meticulous detail which goes into his projects. Only the strings of his prize banjos were store bought, he's quick to point out.

And even age and arthritis have not affected the quality of his workmanship. Last Sunday Blevins celebrated his 82nd birthday and his 58th wedding anniversary.

Surely something to sing about. Fortunately, the Blevins happen to have some fine tuned banjos for such an occasion.

'Postman' remains faithful to Cain's sordid novel

By J. T. YURKO
Special to Playtime

"The Postman Always Rings Twice," from Paramount Pictures. Directed by Bob Rafelson. Written by David Mamet. Starring Jack Nicholson, Jessica Lange, John Colicos. Rated 'R.'

There have been several different movie versions of this James Cain novel, with the best known being the John Garfield/Lana Turner version made in 1946. Luchino Visconti made an unauthorized version of the story, as he never bothered to acquire the movie rights from Cain, but as this was Italy, in 1942 that didn't seem like much of an obstacle.

Visconti entitled his film "Obsession," and that certainly sums up all you need to know about this steamy story of love and murder. Whether Italy or Hollywood, however, censorship problems prevented the earlier movie versions.

from being faithful to some of the more sordid aspects of Cain's novel.

In 1981 there are no such problems, so whether or not you agree that this is the best version of Cain's novel, it is certainly the most faithful, as the gruff book becomes a gritty, seedy, atmospheric film.

The latest couple to act out the tale is Jack Nicholson and Jessica Lange in the new Bob Rafelson film. Set in the midst of the Depression, Nicholson plays a man wandering across America who happens to find himself outside a roadside diner run by Nick Papadakis (John Colicos) and his wife Cora, remarkably played by Jessica Lange. Nicholson and Lange conspire to do away with her husband, but the best laid plans of mice and desperates go awry, with grave results.

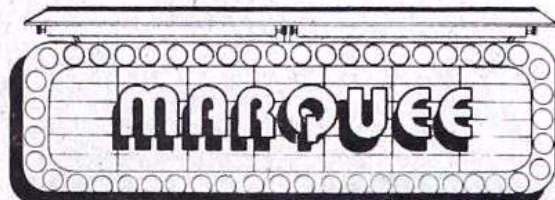

Jessica Lange's performance is not only the best thing about the film, it's one of the best performances by an actress in recent years and is definitely Oscar nomination material.

As the beauty-contest winner whose dreams turn into the dust and sweat of a hash-house cook, she is unforgettable. But she is no nice-girl gone wrong. Her drives and desires have a decidedly masochistic edge that are only sharpened by her teaming with Nicholson's similar aberrant desires. She projects a smile that is both childlike and sultry; she is cruel and torrid, mischievous and malevolent.

Adapting Cain's novel for the screen is David Mamet, well-known for his successful plays such as "A Life in the Theater" and "American Buffalo." This is his first screenplay, and yet he has managed to avoid all the possible pratfalls.

His dialogue is kept to a minimum, and cuts quick to the raw emotions that are unleashed. Director Rafelson maintains the (Continued on Page B-4)

Hackman and Streisand struggle in boring film.

Male menopause makes for boring moviemaking

By J. T. YURKO

"All Night Long," from Universal Pictures. Directed by Jean-Claude Trueman. Written by W.D. Richter. Starring Gene Hackman, Barbra Streisand, Diane Ladd. Rated 'R.'

Dudley Moore caught it in "10." Bruce Dern had it in "Middle Age Crazy." Now Gene Hackman seems to be its latest victim.

What is this dreaded affliction which makes any male who catches it leave family and loved ones, get a new car, a new job, and most of all, a new (and usually younger) woman?

The malady striking these poor victims goes under the title male menopause, but its most striking symptom is that (with the exception of "10") it makes for boring movies. "All Night Long" is no exception.

Irate about his failure to be promoted after all those years of service to his employer, Hackman gets pretty fired up and very nearly fired. He tosses a chair through a plate glass window, with his only regret being that his boss wasn't in it at the time.

He gets transferred (read demoted) to being the midnight manager of an all-night downtown drugstore. This doesn't last too long as he quickly shirks the kick downstairs for his own loft and lofty dreams of becoming an inventor.

That's the job part of the disease. The girl change comes in the form of Barbra Streisand who happens to be married to one of his relatives, but who is also having an affair with Hackman's son. If all this sounds like "Dallas," it's actually closer to the goings on in "Fernwood."

Streisand plays a dizzy-headed blonde whose sexual proclivities may be liberated 80s, but her hair-style and self-opinion is strictly mid-fifties.

Hackman is an amiable middle-aged rebel who takes the reigns of his life away from the company and puts them back in his own hands. He also helps Streisand do (Continued on Page B-4)

What's That Sound?

By STEVE O'LEARY

Joan Jett returns to rock fold with solo album 'Bad Reputation'

Joan Jett exhausts the crowd.

When the Runaways, a group of 16-17 year old girls emerged on the music scene some years ago, the reaction was one big critical scoff; maybe the male rock fans had big male egos which refused to accept the fact that girls can rock and roll too. Of course, female rockers are everywhere today, as Joan Jett recently remarked "When the Runaways came along, there were no girls playing music... now they're all over the place. We opened the doors..."

After a few years off, Joan Jett has returned to the rock fold, and in fine style. Her first solo album, "Bad Reputation," is one of the best "party albums" (her term) to be released in sometime, and as Jett and her band showed onstage at Ann Arbor's spacious Second Chance last week, they're on the move. And the direction is straight up.

When asked what she'd been doing in the time from the breakup of the Runaways and the new album, Jett replied: "I hung around England for a while, did a couple of songs with Steve Jones and Paul Cook (ex-Sex Pistols), produced an album for an L.A. punk band called the Germs, their only album — singer Darby Crash committed suicide in December — and I did a movie. It's a low budget film called "We're All Crazy Now." Anyway, that's when I met my producers, Kenny Laguna and Ritchie Cordell, because they flew out to do the soundtrack with me. And at that point we decided to do a solo album."

For those unaware, Kenny Laguna and Ritchie Cordell were the men behind Tommy James and The Shondells, both on the production side and on the songwriting side. Among others, they penned "Mony Mony" and "Crimson and Clover." What this means is that as a pop artist, Jett's career is in good hands.

Due to problems on the road, the band was two hours late getting into town, which in turn meant a quick sound check just as the doors were opened. But when the band came out and kicked into "Bad Reputation," the sound was as good as if it had been Orchestra Hall.

As the crowd stood on the dance floor — some dancing, some watching, all listening and bouncing to the beat — I weaved my way through the masses taking picture after picture of Jett, who is as good a frontperson as has graced the stage at the Second Chance in years. She doesn't play up the sexual side of the woman rock'n'roller (as she easily could), but rather emphasizes the rockin' aspect.

Like the album, the show consisted of roughly half originals, with brilliantly chosen cover versions spliced throughout, like Gary Glitter's "Do You Wanna Touch Me," the Isley Brothers' "Shout," and Sam the Sham & the Pharaoh's classic "Woolly Bully." The live show also featured a sizzling version of the Rolling Stones "Star Star," perhaps the best song about groupies ever, and the cluster of young males at the front of the stage reaching to touch Jett took the lyrics to, ah, heart.

"I Love Playin' With Fire," in my opinion the best of all the Runaways' songs, was performed during the encore, lending the only nostalgic air of the evening, as even the overworked "Summertime Blue", sounded as fresh as ever.

By the end, everyone was exhausted; the crowd, the band — even my film supply. Joan Jett & the Blackhearts had totally won over the usually cynical Ann Arbor (dare I say "preppie"?) audience with a tremendously energetic rock 'n' roll show. "Bad Reputation"? Not anymore.

An energetic talent. Photos by Steve O'Leary.

DRAMA

'Alive' is coming

Patti Zissimos (left) of Westland, Sue Mize and Mary Randall will be among the performers in the musical drama "Alive!" at the Fairlane Assembly of God Church in Dearborn Heights. This musical is a story of the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus Christ featuring a cast of some 80 members. Performances are scheduled at 8 and 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday and 7 p.m. Monday. The church is located at 22575 Ann Arbor Trail. Admission is free but tickets are required (call 561-3300 for reservations).

Plymouth Guild will perform Simon comedy

Plymouth Theatre Guild is in rehearsal for Neil Simon's "Chapter Two", a comedy in two acts.

Vestus J. Spindler, III is the Director. "Chapter Two" is a love story between George, a widower, and Jennie, a recent divorcee, as they try to put together the fragments of their lives. In typical Neil Simon fashion, humor runs through the play as George's brother and Jennie's girlfriend pursue their ribald intrigues.

"Chapter Two" leads us through sometimes a poignant and sometimes hilarious episodes to a wonderfully happy ending.

Cynthia L. Zeitz (Jennie), Linda Pavey (Faye) and Chuuck Miller (Leo) are residents of Canton.

"Chapter Two" will be presented on April 24, 25, May 1 and 2 at 8:00 p.m. at Central Middle School on Church and Main Streets in Plymouth. Tickets are $3.50 for adults, $2.50 for students (under 18) and senior citizens.

Tickets may be purchased at the door on the night of each performance or by calling Karen Groves 420-2161. Special reduced prices are available for groups of 20 or more.

Coz Canler, the recently added guitarist who replaced Mike Skill in the Romantics, has proved to be a valuable addition.

Detroit's Romantics fuse New Wave and 'hard driving' rock with success

By JOHN SPELICH
Special to Playtime

Detroit's latest claim to rock-and-roll fame, the Romantics, rolled into Ann Arbor's Hill Auditorium on their recent tour and literally blew the lights out before a capacity crowd.

The Romantics were so intense and so hot that they overloaded the electric system of the aging structure, shorting out the stage lights. For the band it was the third "whammy" of the day.

Coming into Ann Arbor, the last stop on a tour that began in September and covered Australia, Canada and the U.S., two tour buses broke down on the freeway 30 miles outside of town.

No matter the amount of whammies the band experienced during the day, their evening performance was colorful and as exciting as ever. Vocalist-guitarist Wally Palmer was in good form as was bassist Rich Cole and drummer Jimmy Marinos. It was fantastic to observe how well the newest member of the band — Coz Canler — had worked into the routine.

For those who enjoy the continuing tradition of hometown rock-and-roll bands, Detroit's Romantics put on a performance worthy of Buckingham Palace. Five encores, 3 power failures and one Donny Iris later, yours truly left the theatre convinced he had seen the promised land.

The band's diversity is not to be believed. Fusing New Wave and "good old hard driving" rock-and-roll, the Romantics have concocted a sound to possibly be reckoned with in the 80s.

And if you love the Romantics, there'll be more to love come fall when the group hopefully releases another album to be recorded over the summer. Within a month after release the band plans to hit the road again.

When asked if the loss of guitarist-writer Mike Skill would hurt the progress of the group, manager Joel Zuckerman replied, "We don't believe that will hurt us at all. We think we're adding new dimensions by bringing in Coz."

New dimension or not, the Romantics have proved they can produce and stay competitive. We can only hope their third album is as big a success as the first two. Given the drive and devotion of the band, doubtless it will be.

An Easter bread basket

This fanciful Ester Egg Braid will make a delightful gift to friends and family on Easter when bundled up in a pretty straw basket. It's a rich egg bread with a crispy crust, topped off with a colorful cinnamon candy blaze. Marshmallow candy eggs in pretty pastel shades nestle between the braids of the loaf, resting in a "nest" of green tinted coconut.

You'll be as popular as the Easter Bunny himself when you fill someone's basket with this sweet Easter Surprise. Here's the recipe, developed by the National Confectioners Association:

Easter Egg Braid

BREAD:
2 packages active dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water (105-115°)
1 cup milk, scalded and cooled
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter, softened

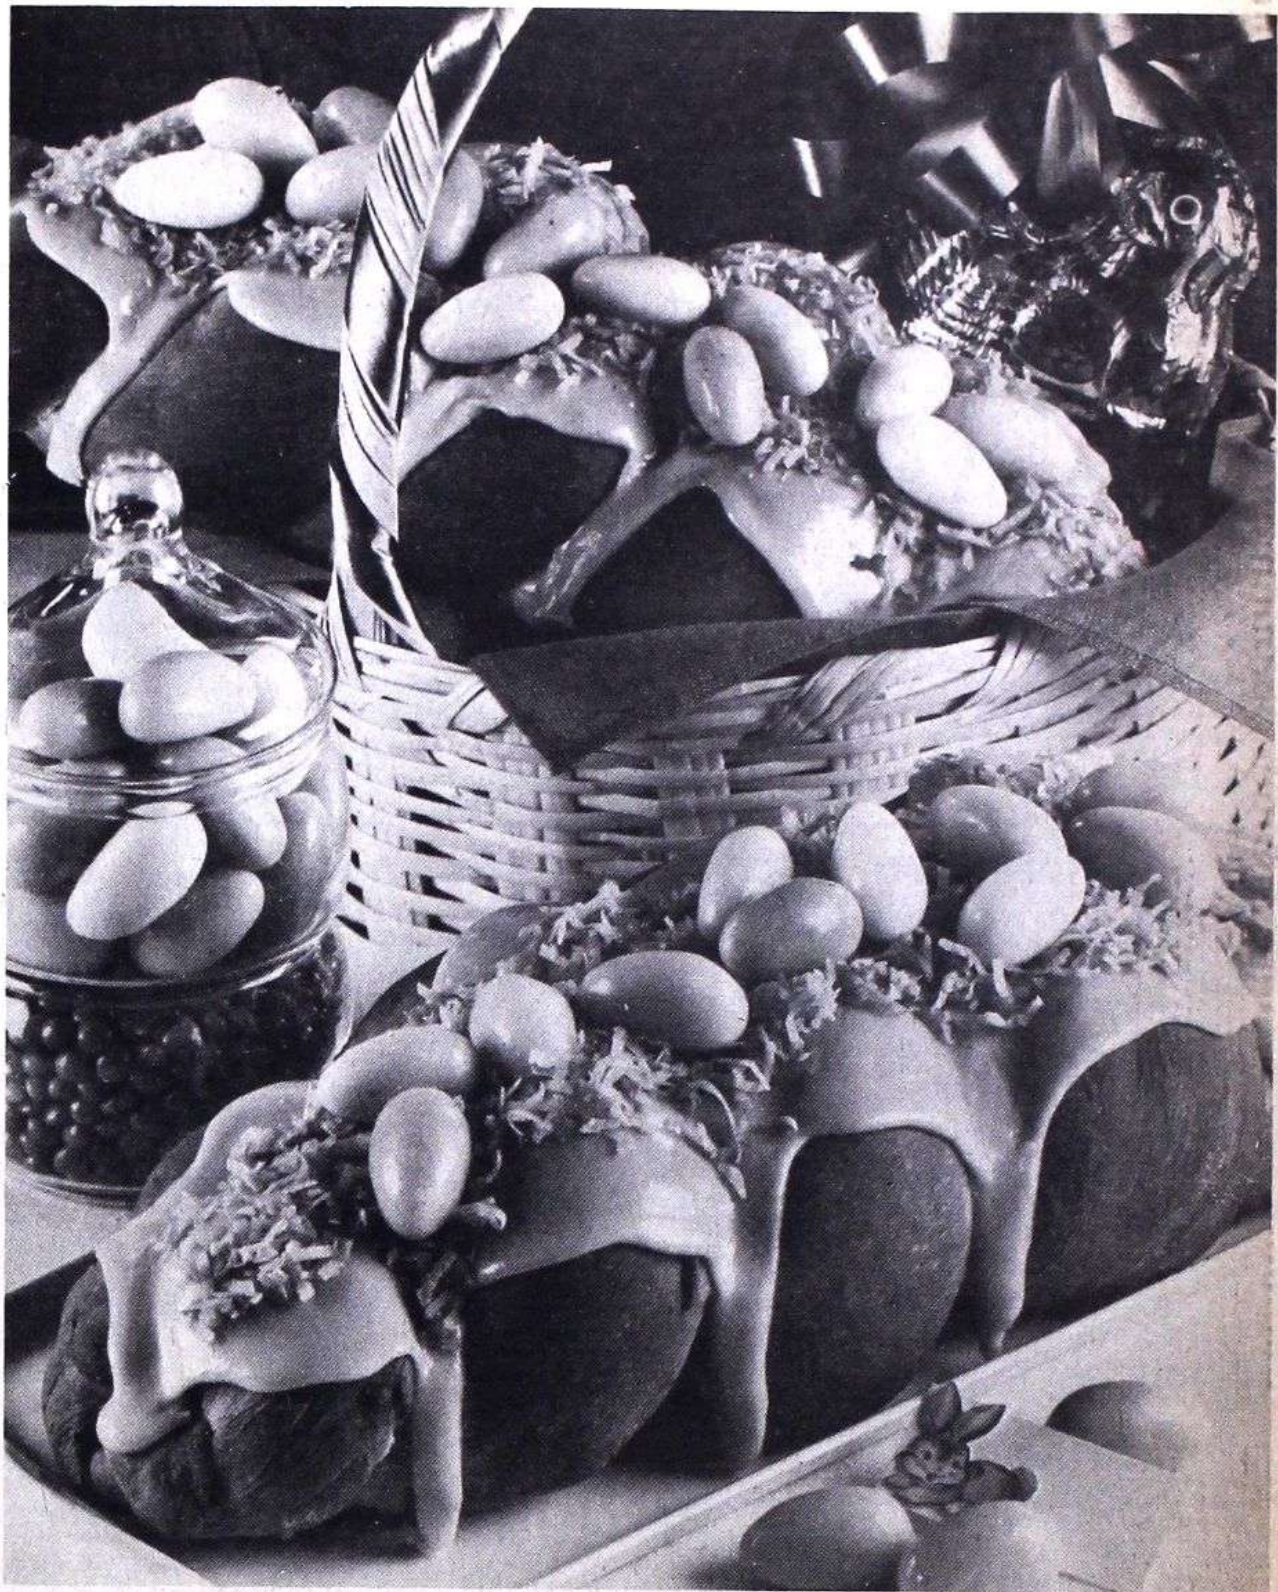

3 eggs
2 egg yolks
1 tablespoon salt
6 1/2 to 6 3/4 cups
all-purpose flour

TOPPING:
1/4 cup red cinnamon candies
3 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons butter
3 cups confectioners sugar

3-4 tablespoons water
Green tinted coconut
Candy-coated
marshmallow eggs

To make bread:
Dissolve yeast in warm water in a large mixing bowl. Add

To make topping:
Melt red cinnamon candies in three tablespoons water in a small saucepan over low heat. Stir constantly until candies dissolve, then blend in butter. Stir candy mixture into bowl with confectioners sugar. Blend in 3-4 tablespoons water until pink frosting is of spreading consistency. Drizzle icing over warm braids, then sprinkle with green tinted coconut. For finishing touch, decoratively place candy-coated marshmallow eggs across top so that they nestle between braids of each loaf. Makes to braids.

Diane Bechtel selected as BPW representative to Girls State

Diane Bechtel of 47554 W. Huron River Dr., Belleville, has been selected by the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club, to attend the 41st session of Girls State on the campus of Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant.

Girls State, under the direction of the American Legion Auxiliary, will operate for nine days, June 13-21. The local unit #231, 16th American Legion District, has Ethel Jewell of New Boston as president of the Huron Valley Chapter.

Miss Bechtel was selected from the junior class of Belleville High School where she is active and outstanding in the Debate and Forensic Team. She attended the National Bi-centennial Debate at Williamsburg, Va. during her sophomore and junior years and also served as a representative at the Regional Tournament, Dearborn, on extemporaneous speaking. She was one of the national winners from BHS in the Bicentennial debate.

Along with debating, Diane has been on the honor roll since 9th grade and hopes to attend the University of Michigan to major in speech and communications. Among her subjects is German and she has a pen pal in Germany who has invited her there this summer.

In her spare time Diane is active with the St. Anthony Youth Group; volunteers an hour per day to work in Guidance Office; collects miniature furniture of the Victorian era and enjoys writing poetry and short stories with hopes of having some published.

Girls State was established in 1941 to give 11th grade high school girls a practical experience in the importance of self-government as operated in Michigan and the United States. Each of the 504 girls attending this session is assigned to a mythical political party at city and county level. The citizens (students) nominate and elect various city, county and state officials. They are instructed in the duties of the various public offices. They learn the functioning of these offices, including the power and limitations of legislative, executive and administrative divisions of government.

From the Girls State gathering in Michigan, two girls will be selected to attend Girls Nation in Washington, D.C. at American University during the summer.

This is the third year Belleville High School has had representation at Girls State.

Lamaze classes to begin Ap. 28

Couples anticipating the birth of a baby within the next five to six months should enroll for classes in the Lamaze Method of Prepared Childbirth, which are being conducted at the Garden City Osteopathic Hospital beginning April 28, by Professional Associates in Childbirth Education.

DIANE BECHTEL

By Lee Smith -- Suburban Living Editor

While putting "At the library" (which appears on these Suburban Living pages) together recently, I jotted down the titles of several books which sounded like my kind of reading. Number One on that list was "Adventurous Eating in Michigan" co-authored by Marjorie and Duke Winters for Beech Tree Press in Holt, Mi.

Those of you who've been "potpourri" followers for any length of time have by now surmised that BG and I are quite the team when it comes to experimenting with new restaurants. We fortunately share the excitement and challenge of a new eating spot — its diversity or similarity to others we've tried and mainly, of course, the cuisine.

Be it ethnic, exotic, continental, regional or home-cookin', we are always delighted to discover a "new and different" place with truly good food that we can recommend to others of our ilk.

In our gastrinomial ventures we've uncovered little known places with excellent fresh seafood, elegant puff pastry entrees, unique casseroles, imaginative salads, unusual appetizers and luscious homemade desserts.

Refreshing "from scratch, non-computerized" drinks can also score for a place and, naturally, the surroundings and service are a big factor in its success.

"Adventurous Eating in Michigan" was responsible for our lunching at a really out-of-the-way eatery (for US) recently when we made plans to visit a new golf outlet in Clarkston.

With the promise of "snuggly warm surroundings... four or five chalkboard specials each day... nuances of the early days in Michigan throughout... tiny bouquets of fresh daisies on the tables... exceptionally well-prepared foods that win high praise... and the near guarantee that we'd forever after look back on our visit with affection", we were sold on giving the Clarkston Cafe a test run.

In their glowing 2-page report, the Winterses also include the added enticement that the owner of Detroit's famous London Chop House, Les Gruber (a fierce taskmaster), eats at the C.C., a favorite of his.

To get back to the paperback itself — a 261-pager complete with maps of both the lower and upper peninsulas with cities claiming the featured restaurants pinpointed — it is one of those handy guides which every traveler should include in his glove compartment. If, like us, you often find yourself in "foreign" country at mealtime, the book will lead you to some mighty fine watering holes. With a hop to Saulte Ste. Marie on our calendar for July, we were pleased to find a recommendation for dining there as well as in Escanaba, Manistique and St. Ignace enroute.

That's the special attraction for "Adventurous Eating" — it covers the state's byways as well as highways and takes you to such intriguing locations as The Dam Site Inn at Pellston for "comfortable country dining": The

Jordan Inn for "incomparable innovations in cuisine — one of the best" in East Jordan; Muskegon's Hearthstone for "the best in soups and sandwiches"; and The Thornapple Village Inn at Ada for "distinctive dining and design."

Some 101 special inns, taverns, cafes and restaurants and recipes (at least one from each listing) plus a detailed roster of 40 Detroit favorites are included in this most interestingly written and well-compiled guide.

Our next stop? Perhaps Cornwell's Turkey House in nearby Marshall since BG wouldn't mind Thanksgiving fare most any Sunday. Maybe we'll see you there!

MORE ABOUT THE AVERAGE AMERICAN

The average American husband and wife converse with one another 20 minutes a week, according to an article in the Washington Post.

Seven out of 10 families in the United States own their home.

The most likely time of life for a nervous breakdown is between ages 55 and 64. Not counting childhood, the least likely period is between 25 and 34.

One of every 500 babies in America is born to a girl under 15 years of age.

The average American drinks less than usual with relatives, neighbors and church acquaintances and more than usual with close friends.

One of every 136 American women is a member of Weight Watchers.

The average American is most likely to reach for a Snickers when he or she buys a candy bar (I sure fit in here!) unless he or she lives in the Northeast, in which case it'll most likely be a Reese's Peanut Butter Cup (and I'd fit in there, too!)

WHEN CAROL MENTIONED how much she was enjoying orange marmalade during her stay in England, I made a mental note to remember that item in any C.A.R.E. packages I sent to college on her return.

Well, when she unpacked the groceries we'd brought on a February visit and saw ANOTHER jar of Smucker's with the little citrus peel inside, she admitted she just couldn't use anymore — that she just wasn't eating here the way she had abroad and that she was still working at shedding a few excess pounds (English pounds, of course.)

So — that yellow-orange mixture has been gracing our refrigerator ever since with only a dab or two removed for the rare piece of toast or English muffin that gets eaten at our house.

So it was with a glad heart and anxious scissors that the following was discovered in and removed from our latest Southern Living monthly. And — having given "Jam Teasers" an initiation the other night, I felt they merited the "potpourri" recipe spotlight for the week. They're delicious!

They are really easy to make and here are a few suggestions to note (1) prepare the rolls on a clean surface (bread board or wax paper) so that you can swoop up the filling that oozes out when you finish rolling and spread it over top the crescents (thereby eliminating the last step in the recipe (2) a narrow rubber spatula is ideal for spreading the two fillings (3) use scant teaspoons of marmalade and more or less "center" them on the triangles (4) remove crescents from cookie sheet at once and place on a rack covered with wax paper (they are sticky!) and (5) run cookie sheet under hot water immediately — the drippings harden fast!

Time your baking so that these are served warm (not hot) since that's the way they taste best.

JAM TEASERS

1 (8-oz.) can refrigerated crescent dinner rolls
3 T. commercial sour cream
6 scant tps. orange marmalade
1/4 cup chopped walnuts
1/4 cup flaked coconut
2 T. orange marmalade, melted (optional)
Additional chopped nuts (optional)

Separate crescent rolls into triangles. Spread each with 1 teaspoon sour cream and 2 scant teaspoons marmalade. Sprinkle each evenly with walnut-coconut mixture. Roll up, beginning at large end. Place seam side down, 1-inch apart on a greased baking sheet; curve into crescents. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes. Remove from oven and, if you like, brush with melted marmalade and sprinkle with additional nuts. Yield: 8 servings.

When that pretty "Christmas" cactus I received as a hostess gift a couple years ago burst forth in blooms last THANKSGIVING, I was sure I'd been misled as to its proper title. But when it ALSO blossomed during the Yule season, I figured it was just a crazy, mixed up plant.

NOW the silly thing is going absolutely wild with 16 buds about to add color to our kitchen, timing their debut perfectly for Easter week. We've finally decided the very versatile houseplant is really a HOLIDAY cactus. (Now we'll wait to see what happens come early July.)

THE BOTTOM LINE: It's a wily wife who asks for something she knows her husband can't afford so that she can compromise on what she really wants. (This was chosen because it is most fitting for a certain M.M. we know.)

Nichols-Sedlar vows exchanged at Calvary Baptist Church rite

Calvary Baptist Church in Romulus was the setting March 28 for the double ring ceremony which joined Anita L. Sedlar and Harold E. Nichols Jr. in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Lonnie England presided at the three o'clock rite before some 50 assembled relatives and friends. For the occasion, Susan Kahl and Kay Davidson provided instrumental and vocal music.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Scott of 32059 Bruce St., Romulus, the bride was escorted to the altar by her step-father. For her wedding day she selected a traditional white creation of rosepoint lace and organza. A high lace collar above an illusion neckline, bishop sleeves and a double flounced chapel train were styling details on the toe-touching gown.

A little lace cap secured her silk illusion veil which was banded in rosepoint lace and cut in fingertip length. Completing her bridal finery was a cascade bouquet of 18 pink sweetheart roses and 10 white phalaenopsis orchids interspersed with sprigs of baby's breath.

Mrs. Debra Ayres, the bridegroom's sister, served as honor attendant in a floor-length baby blue A-line frock with a companion jacket in chiffon. She wore silk flowers in her hair and carried a blue crystal basket filled with two shades of blue silk flowers.

Bridesmaids in similar ensembles included Sharon Alkins of Canton and Debbie Emmons, Donna Way and another of the bridegroom's sisters, Doreen Nichols, all of Romulus.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nichols Sr. of 30565 Young, Gibraltar, asked James Kochans of Romulus to be best man. The corps of ushers included Thomas Frederick and Rob Talbe, both of Detroit; Leon Chalk of Southfield and Gene Ayres of Romulus, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

At the reception and buffet dinner which followed at King's Bridge Clubhouse in Gibraltar, the bride's mother greeted some 90 guests in a pale lilac shirtwaist gown to which she pinned her corsage of silk burgundy roses. Mrs. Nichols chose for her son's wedding a long forest green A-line gown, her corsage comprised of green and white carnations.

The newlyweds, who are now residing at 32059 Bruce, Romulus, are planning their week-long honeymoon to California for the middle of August.

The new Mrs. Nichols is a 1975 graduate of Romulus High School. Her husband, a 1973 RHS alumnus, is now employed by Hydra-Matic Division of General Motors in Ypsilanti.

Given by the bridegroom, the rehearsal dinner was held at China Star Palace in Westland.

Moody-Butzin set June date

Lynda M. Moody and Ernest E. Butzin are engaged and busy with plans for their June 20 altar date. Robert and Adonna Demski of 18256 Martinsville Rd., Belleville, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, a 1977 graduate of Belleville High School currently working as a secretary at Private Industry Corp. in Livonia. Her fiancé, who resides at 44043 Ecorse Rd., Belleville, is the son of Anne Butzin of 17950 Vining Rd., Romulus, and the late Otto Butzin. An alumnus of Belleville High School, he is employed at General Motors Assembly Division in Ypsilanti. The First United Methodist Church of Belleville has been reserved for the young couple's summer wedding.

Just in passing

Who really needs those gory details in the news?

By KAY DeBORD

Sometimes newspaper people embarrass me.

At other times, I take pride in my profession. In fact, I feel that way most of the time.

But, other times... I get a queasy feeling.

For instance — following the attempt to assassinate the president when press conferences turned into a shambles despite the efforts of those addressing the press to be cooperative under circumstances that were trying to say the very least.

The seeking for all the gory details at a time when it was understandable that it was a sensitive subject to those being queried. And those who sought to stir up a problem (between Secretary of State Alexander Haig and Vice-President George Bush) just for the sake of a story.

And back to the gory film — what about the feelings of family and personal friends and co-workers of the wounded men — watching in horrified fascination?

In an effort to provide the "people's right to know" are we as a profession, lacking in sensitivity? It seems so!

Another thing that really gets to me is the media shoving a microphone in the face of a person who has just been involved or had a loved one involved in a tragedy.

It's ghoulish and this is one segment of "knowing" that leaves me feeling that I really didn't need to know the reaction.

I am a human being with some knowledge of sorrow and grief and suffering so I don't need to "see" to be aware of the feelings of others under those circumstances.

Possibly there are other watchers and readers who like to be in on every little reaction and detail. It's just that I'm not one of them. I don't need to see "all the blood."

Working for a weekly newspaper is much different than being part and parcel of a big daily in competition with other dailies for a "hot" story.

Our concern is with local communities — and many a time we have had to make the judgement — "does the public really have the right to know this?" If it brings hurt to an innocent person or family, it calls for consideration. One is also aware of the "cover-up" accusation. But the decision has to be made.

In Washington, D.C., the people's "right to know" was carried into the realm of burlesque by overzealous reporters who should know better.

A reporter can't afford to fall into the error of being led by the hysteria of the moment, discarding good sense and sensibility for the sake of what they hope will be a "good story."

God forbid the newspapers and the media ever find themselves disappointed because there hasn't been a death just for the sake of a "good story."

'Small gesture' from DDA

City to test drive diesel-powered truck

The City of Romulus recently received a diesel-powered 16-foot truck from Detroit Diesel Allison. The truck — with a DDA 8.2 liter Fuel Pincher engine — is part of an engine test program in which DDA engineering can monitor the performance of the engine in normal use.

Mayor William M. Oakley took delivery of the truck at DDA's Romulus manufacturing complex where the Fuel Pincher engines are made.

David Paul, director of public works for the city, accompanied the Mayor. He commented that the truck body could easily be converted to a dump truck.

Warren L. Moody, DDA staff engineer in charge of the 8.2 liter Fuel Pincher engine, personally delivered the truck to Mayor Oakley. "This is a small gesture of our appreciation to Romulus," Moody said. "The consignment arrangement with the city will be beneficial to both Romulus and DDA."

Under the consignment agreement, the city gets full use of the truck without charge, but is responsible for licensing, insurance, and maintenance.

New diesel powered truck

Mayor Oakley takes delivery of a DDA-powered 16-foot truck. After DDA's staff engineer, Warren L. Moody (right), released the truck to Romulus, David Paul, director of public works, put himself in the driver's seat. The truck is part of an engine test program to monitor the performance of DDA's 8.2 liter Fuel Pincher engine during actual use by the city.

6A. Motion by Rush, supported by Cantrell, to adopt Resolution 81-087:

Resolution 81-087

WHEREAS: There have, within the past two (2) years, several attempts to deregulate local governments control over telecommunications; specifically, the Cable Television Industry. For example, House Resolution 3333 would have radically altered the regulatory framework of Cable Television by pre-empting all state and local regulatory authority and authorizing the entry of AT&T into the Cable Television market; and

WHEREAS: It has come to the attention of the City Council of the City of Romulus, that the United States Legislature; specifically, the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation and the House Committee on Energy and Commerce have set agendas which will scrutinize the municipal role in regulating Cable Television; and

WHEREAS: The Administrative and Legislative Officials of the City of Romulus, first and foremost responsibility to the citizens of it's community, is to provide for the Health, Safety and Welfare of those citizens; and inclusive in that responsibility lies meeting the service needs of it's community; and

WHEREAS: Recently, in an attempt to keep abreast of the many on-going and diverse educational activities of our times, it has become of paramount importance to the citizens of the City of Romulus that said City provide a means whereby the aforementioned activities might be readily made available to them; and

WHEREAS: In an attempt to meet the aforementioned needs, the City Council of the City of Romulus, sought a means whereby same could be accomplished; concluding that the Cable Television Industry would be the most effective source, began the process of researching and reviewing Cable Television franchises which would provide to it's citizens the most comprehensive and personalized Cable Television Service; and

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus recognized the need for regulations in minute operations; however, said City Council is opposed to any alterations in the existing regulations governing the Cable Television Industry which would pre-empt local governments ability to effectively meet the specific needs of the citizens; be they financial, education or otherwise.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: By the City Council of the City of Romulus, that, in light of the above, it does herewith set forth it's opposition of the deregulation of local governments' control over Telecommunications, most specifically, the Cable Television Industry; that will sterilize local governments and thereby effectuate same as nonresponsive and nonresponsible to the needs of it's community.

81-088

8. Motion by Block, supported by Cantrell, to adopt Resolution 81-088:

Resolution 81-088

WHEREAS: Woolf Aircraft, Incorporated, on March 6, 1981, filed four (4) applications requesting approval of Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificates, within the Industrial Development District, described as follows:

Part of the Northeast 1/4 of Section 6, T3S R9E Beginning North 89° 18M 02S East 43 feet from the center 1/4 corner of Section 6, thence due North 350.02 feet, thence North 89° 18M 02S East 1284.91 feet, thence South 0° 11M 12S East 350.01 feet, thence South 89° 18M 02S West 1286.05 feet to the point of beginning 10.33 acres.

WHEREAS: The City Council for the City of Romulus has completed a thorough investigation designed to determine the feasibility, acceptability, and legality of its methods of proceeding and proposed action based on the provisions of Public Act 198 of 1974, as amended, and have found all matters to be proper and in accordance with the requirements set forth in Act 198 of 1974, as amended; and

WHEREAS: The legislative body of each governmental unit which levied ad valorem taxes on said property has been afforded an opportunity to be heard on this matter at a Public Hearing held February 24, 1981; and

WHEREAS: The Wayne County Board of Commissioners, the Wayne County Intermediate School District, the Romulus Board of Education, Wayne County Community College, and the City Assessor, after their investigation testified in favor of the City Council of the City of Romulus approving the applications; and

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus, by it's independent investigation, has determined that the approval of the application will be beneficial to the City of Romulus and that Industrial Exemption Certificates for an amount exceeding the five (5%) percent limitation found in Section 9, Subsection 1, Subsection (f), of Act 198, of 1974, as amended, would not have the effect of substantially impeding the unit levying an ad valorem tax within the City of Romulus to be effected by said approval.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: By the City Council of the City of Romulus pursuant to the authority vested herein by Public Act 198 of 1974, as amended, does herewith grant approval for Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificates to Woolf Aircraft Incorporated as requested in its application filed with the City of Romulus on March 6, 1981.

8B. Motion by Rush, supported by Canejo, to refer Agenda Item #8B (Rules regarding members of the public addressing the City Council during it's regular meeting) to the Regular Council meeting of April 7, 1981. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Cantrell, Yeramian, Block, Rush, Canejo, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

81-090

10A. Motion by Yeramian, supported by Rush, to adopt Resolution 81-090.

Resolution 81-090

WHEREAS: It has come to the attention of the City Council of the City of Romulus that the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners are proposing that sanitary sewers and watermains be located along rear lot lines of new residential and industrial subdivisions; and

WHEREAS: The Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners are proposing to locate storm sewer trunk lines in easements along common rear lot lines of proposed residential and industrial subdivisions; and

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus operates and maintains sanitary sewers and watermain systems, and are responsible for the maintenance of rear yard storm drainage.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus very strongly objects to any policy of the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners which would require the location of sanitary sewers and watermains along rear lot lines of new subdivisions, in that, both would be expensive and difficult to maintain and would cause an unreasonable increase in cost to new developments in providing installation of dual sewer systems in new residential and industrial subdivisions.

BE IT FINALLY RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Rush, Cantrell, Yeramian, Block, Canejo, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

81-091

10F. Motion by Rush, supported by Yeramian, to adopt Resolution 81-091:

Resolution 81-091

WHEREAS: It has come to the attention of the City Council of the City of Romulus that the State Legislature is currently considering House Bill 4015, "Cemetery Regulation Act", a bill which would subject local cemeteries to the control of the State Cemetery Commission; and

WHEREAS: House Bill No. 4015 specifies that "the commission shall institute a system of auditing trust funds required by this act and of registering and inspecting each cemetery authorized to be created, maintained, and operated . . .", and will require installation of restroom facilities; and

WHEREAS: The Administrative and Legislative Officials of the City of Romulus have been charged with the responsibility to provide for the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of its community; significant among these charges is the responsibility of providing both effective and efficient cemetery services to its citizens; and

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus recognizes the significance of having control over operations where said control will provide a more effective and efficient end result; however, if the aforementioned be not the case said control can only result in a less than operable condition; and

WHEREAS: The ever-increasing decline in manpower in all levels of government cannot logically substantiate and decline in responsibility, where said decline is not an absolute necessity in the performance of services to the public; and

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus along with other local municipalities are presently charged with the responsibility of providing cemetery services to its citizens, and because of the immediate contact are far better equipped to realize the needs of its citizens and thereby provide for same; and

WHEREAS: Any escalation in regulatory authority necessitates increased costs to accomplish same at a time when neither the State nor Local Government can assume additional financial obligations; particularly, obligations necessitated by regulations which fail to produce new and/or better service to the public.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: By the City Council of the City of Romulus that it does herewith set forth its opposition to House Bill 4015, as it is currently written, because it fails to provide a new and/or improved service to the citizens of the City of Romulus but would increase operational costs.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to Senator Faust, Representatives Owens and Mahalka.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Rush, Yeramian, Block, Canejo, Banks. Nays - Cantrell. Motion carried.

81-092

Time for a change in Sub-8?

Belleville '9' shows signs of hope

With the abundance of baseball talent in the Suburban 8 Conference, Belleville has never in recent years shown even a glimmer of hope that it was a serious title contender.

That may change this season.

First year coach Tom Fielder feels he has a pitching staff that is second to none in the league and "if the defense and hitting fall into place, the race should be interesting."

Fielder replaces Dan Fisher who resigned after the Tigers finished .500 (6-6) in the league and 9-13 over-all a year ago.

Belleville quickly presented its new coach — (Fielder isn't exactly a stranger in these parts — he has served as assistant coach in football and baseball) with a 1-0 victory over league rival, Allen Park, then split a doubleheader with Inter-Lakes powerhouse, Livonia Stevenson, in its next outing.

Stevenson won the opener of the twin bill, 4-1, but dropped the nightcap, 2-1.

Tiger hurler Larry Petrowski twirled a 4-hitter, struck out 11 and walked three to earn the league decision. His teammates came up with the only run of the game in the fifth inning.

With one-away, Greg Brinkerhoff latched onto a Ray Thome curve for a single, then raced to third when Kelvin Roberts also singled. Petrowski's single drove in the winning run.

Thome, who gave up only three hits — all in the fifth — notched three strikeouts and didn't walk a batter in taking the loss. Petrowski pitched a four-hitter, whiffed 11 and walked three.

Sam Villa was the victim in the 4-1 loss to Stevenson. After pitching six consecutive scoreless innings, the junior right-hander allowed four runs in the top of the fourth. He finished with a pair of strikeouts and one walk.

Winner Mike Rosochacki got six Tiger batters on strikes and gave up a run in the first when Darren Weise walked, went to second on a base hit by Jim Daniels. Brinkerhoff's single loaded the bases, but Rosochacki got out of the inning after Weise scored on Roberts' forceout.

Belleville struck for two runs in the first inning on a single by Rob Lintner, a double by Brinkerhoff, that put runners on second and third and then Petrowski and Daniels singled off of Kevin Mordock, giving the Tigers the margin of victory.

Tiger pitcher Chris Cicotte went the district, gave up two hits, struck out five and walked two.

Trenton, with a 2-0 record, stands atop of the league standings as the week began while Belleville is 1-0. Both defending champ Plymouth Salem and Bentley has 1-1 records.

"From how we see it, it's really a balanced league this year," Fielder said. "And I don't see anyone going through the season with a perfect record. Whoever wins it will have at least three or four losses."

From ice boy
to world

boxing champ By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

He was an idol who stood above all others, in an age when there were so many idols.

He was not a belligerent man, although his two fists and body and mind were trained for a sport whose ultimate goal was to pound a man into submission. Forus who grew up during the ante bellum years, the unpretentious Joe Louis was the only idol and champ. The Hank Greenbergs, the Rudy Yorks, the Hal Newhausers, the Tarzans and the Tyrone Powers and Errol Flynns were there, but it was Louis who inspired us to pick up ice — for the ice box — because he started out as an ice carrier, it was Louis whom we tried to emulate when we got to box in the backyards and garages.

And each time Louis entered the ring, we knew he would win, because he was "The Champ."

No man will ever take the Champ's place for those who grew up in the '30s and during those "days of infamy."

The champ will be laid to rest today.

And the people of the past will recall how this great athlete astonished the world with his explosive two fists, how he shattered the Hitlerian philosophy of German supremacy of Nazi Germany by flooring Max Schmeling in the first round of their rematch.

Who of us who lived in that past will ever forget huddling around the radio and listening to the official count off those 10 numbers and then say: "The winner and still champion of the World, Joe Louis."

And the bouts that followed — the ones against 'Two-ton' Tony Galento, Tommy Farr and Billy Conn — some 54 fights, my colleagues say.

Here was a man who was "the power of the boxing world," yet so openly vulnerable to the synchophants that heroes seem to attract. A man, as they say, who was "an easy touch", that gave his millions away, and that in his later years had to depend upon the Las Vegas casino barons for his livelihood until his last days.

To the gamins, who shoved and pushed their way to the gambling joints in Vegas, Louis was a sideshow that they had to see. This man whose Herculean power fascinated the world for more than two decades.

The boy who carried ice to the ice boxes on Detroit streets for a living in the days before the refrigerator, became a man and a martyr for a nation at war.

Tom Bay, a 1977 graduate of Livonia Churchill High School who is now a senior at Alma College, is one of 11 basketball players who received varsity awards at the Alma Scots' 1981 basketball awards banquet in late March.

One of three seniors who served as captains this season, Bay received both an Alma College blanket as his third and senior year letter and a captain's award.

Bay, a 6'3" forward, played in all 22 Alma games this season and scored 123 points, shooting 68 percent from the free throw line and 42 percent from the floor. He also grabbed 111 rebounds.

The Alma Scots, under first-year coach Chris Ragsdale, finished fifth of seven in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA), with a 5-7 record in the league. Overall, the Scots finished the season 9-13.

In high school, Bay also earned three letter playing for Churchill, was all-league twice, league Most Valuable Player and all area.

Bay is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bay, 7766 Terri, Westland. He is a business administration major and is a candidate for a Bachelor of Arts degree at Alma's 1981 Commencement on April 18.

Caludette Cline, a freshman on Western Michigan University's women's track team from Romulus, had a hand in two winning performances at last Saturday's (April 4) WMU Invitational.

Cline, a graduate of Romulus High, claimed first place in the 400-meter dash with a clocking of 1:04.2. Later in the meet, she anchored the 1,600-meter relay team which registered a winning time of 4:21.5.

Coach Debbie Hunt's team easily outdistanced second-place Northern Illinois in the 14-school meet for top honors by amassing 179 points to the Huskies' 96.

If Wayne, Westland and Belleville cheerleaders can be featured on these pages, then why not Romulus? No reason at all. So, here they are the varsity Eagle cheerleaders — a little belatedly — doing their thing. The line-up includes captain Jenifer Mitton (from left to right), Susan Fox, co-captain Sissy Salser; middle row are Beverly Smith, Christine Eastman, Lindie Collins and in front are Charisse Parson with "mascot" seven-year-old Dorren Horning. The girls can thank the inclement weather for making their appearance here this week. Most of the baseball games were wiped out because of Monday and Tuesday's downpour.

Eagles have one win for their extra work

A late starter a year ago because of a teachers' strike and inclement weather, Romulus showed it could put runs on the scoreboard during the first week of baseball.

Unfortunately, Coach Dennis Stoh's Eagles couldn't hang on to them.

Consequently, Romulus bowed to Ann Arbor Pioneer in its season opener, 4-3, in an eight inning affair. The Eagles blew a 3-run lead. However, they came back in their next game to win a 10-inning marathon, 3-2, at the expense of Willow Run.

"We're young, and it shows," said Coach Stoh. "In both games we had the lead and let them come back on us. That's always a sign of inexperience. But we'll be alright once we get a few more games under our belts."

Glenn is 2-0

Rockets' power humbles Inkster, Bishop Borgess

If Westland John Glenn can exploit their power like they did in their first two games, Coach Norm Hoenes won't have anything to worry about during the 1981 baseball campaign.

With Johnny Paz sparking a record-setting 16-run first inning with a grand slam homer, the Westlanders overwhelmed Inkster 25-3, a day after they scored 10 runs to edge Bishop Borgess, 10-9.

"Would you believe we're 2-0 on the season?" quipped Hoenes who is looking forward to the start of the Northwest Suburban Conference year. "When you get 35 runs in two games, well, I just haven't seen anything like this around here in a long time."

Hoenes also was quick to point out that his Rockets blew a 9-0 lead in the opener against Borgess. Glenn tallied twice in the first and second innings, then routed starter, Jeff Varga, with a five-run third.

But Glenn reliever Mike Dest gave up a grand slam in the sixth as Bishop Borgess tied the score at 9-all to rob starter Paz of what appeared to be a sure victory.

Dest got the final two outs in the sixth, then put the side down in order in the seventh to pick up the decision.

The Rockets scored the decisive run in the bottom of the seventh when Dest and Jim Watts each rapped singled. Troy Lindon hit a blooper behind third to lead the bases and bring Greg Kancierz to the plate. Kancierz sacrificed to deep center, driving in Dest with the winning run.

Glenn got to Varga for five runs in the third as Mike Taig was awarded first base when he was struck by a wild pitch, but Mike Pranke hit into a double play, momentarily erasing the threat. Tony Dalimonte also was hit by a wild one and he scored when Dest hammered his first homer of the season.

Linden then walked and moved to second on Greg Kancierz' single. The two baserunners scored when Paz connected for a two-run triple.

Dest and Watts each had three hits, while Linden and Paz chipped in two apiece.

Against Inkster, Glenn put 16 runs and sent 18 batters to the plate in a record first inning. Joe Drabik had no problem winning his first start of the season. Dave Mabry was charged with the loss.

The Rockets began their conference season Tuesday afternoon at home against Garden City East, and have nothing else scheduled for the rest of the week.

During the holidays Hoenes will test his club against Garden City West (April 21) and will play a traditionally strong Ypsilanti noon on Sat., April 25 at home.

Tigers win 3 in a row in softball

Defending Suburban 8 League Tri-champion Belleville opened its varsity softball season with a bang over the weekend by routing Allen Park, 14-1, and sweeping a double-header from non-league foe, Livonia Stevenson, by scores of 8-1 and 13-2.

"I was very pleased with the girls' performances," said Coach Peggy Curtis. "We don't have as much depth as last year, but Sophomore pitcher Sandy Mattson replaced senior Sue Meyer and won all three games."

Belleville bombed Sub 8 League foe Allen Park as Mattson pitched a one-hitter. Sophomore Kim Thiek had two hits, senior Kim Beckley had two hits and two runs-batted-in, junior Sherry Shearer had two hits and Nancy Wisniewski rapped two singles and scored three runs. Patti Kalasz had two RBIs.

Against Stevenson, Mattson allowed only three hits, walked none and fanned three. Junior Ann Plaza had to hits in the 8-1 romp.

In the nightcap, Mattson allowed just two hits, walked four and struck out two. Returning all-league shortstop Vicki Forest led the Tiger attack with a double and triple and three RBIs.

Patti Kalasz rapped two hits, had one RBI and three runs, while Kim Beckley scored three times.

Belleville, who tied for the Sub 8 League title last year with Livonia Bentley and Plymouth Salem with 10-2 records, hosted Bentley Tuesday afternoon. They faced Adrian Monday and will host Dearborn tomorrow before taking Easter week off.

Brewer, 6, of Rochester; Bob Dhans, 13, of Westland; Suzanne Kindred, 6, of Royal Oak, and Jeff Guritza, 9 of Dearborn. Champs look unbeatable

Cherry Hill thinclads coast in Tri-River debut

Although there are a lot of new names and faces, the results were as they have been for the past seven years when defending champ Cherry Hill launched the 1981 Tri-River Conference track & field season last Thursday.

With senior Ken Winfrey contributing three individual first places and taking part in one of three winning relays, Coach Dick Gordon's Spartans crushed arch-rival Garden City West, 74-58.

It was Cherry Hill's 56th consecutive league dual meet victory, as the Spartans continue to dominate the conference. They have only three returning lettermen off of last year's championship team.

"We have some fine athletes on this team," commented Gordon, "and two of these — Danny Smith and Steve Sheahan — are only sophomores. I feel this should be an interesting year for us."

Gordon has named Ron Bleau, William Ellis and John Martin to tri-captain the Spartans who need to concern themselves with an improved Dearborn Heights Crestwood and Melvindale if they hope to repeat and extend their title rule.

One key figure, Winfrey, already has erased a record. Last week, the lanky senior leaped 22 feet, 2 inches to take down from the record board Rance Teeple's mark of 21 feet, 7 inches on the long jump set nearly 15 years ago.

Winfrey also posted the winning time for the 100-yard dash (10.6) and was clocked in 24.2 to win the 220. Teaming with Paul Pilat, Sheahan and Gerald Ivey, Winfrey anchored the 440-yard relay which seat its West counterpart by six-tenths of a second.

Belleville runners clash with defending champ, Dearborn

Belleville track Coach Dave Medley got a good look at Dearborn at the Mansfield Relays in Ohio over the weekend and unfortunately for his Tigers he liked what he saw.

"They're an excellent team," said Medley whose trackmen run up against the defending Suburban 8 Conference champs on Wednesday (April 15). "I think our kids will be tested — our meet against Bentley last week really didn't tell us much."

"We managed to move people around against them (Bentley)," Medley added.

Belleville swept all three relays and eight individual events, including all five field events, en route to a 101-31 victory over the Bulldogs. The victory brought the curtains up on the Suburban 8 dual meet season.

Meet results: Belleville 101, Livonia Bentley 31

Clarenceville shuts out Cherry Hill, 7-0

Cherry Hill got off to a Gibsonian start and wasn't able to overcome some serious mental mistakes that led to a 7-0 setback at the hands of out-of-league baseball rival, Clarenceville, last week.

"We were shaky," said Spartan coach Ken Mientkiewicz, who began his sixth year as Cherry Hill's head coach. "We made some mistakes and paid for them."

Mientkiewicz said that he is starting five juniors and a senior who didn't play much a year ago, "so there's a lot of inexperience in our line-up."

"However, I feel as we mature, we're going to be a decent ball club."

Clarenceville got to Spartan starter, and loser, Tom Michno for a single run in the bottom of the second, then picked up two more in the fourth before exploding for four runs in the sixth to put the game out of reach.

Michno, a righthander, lasted four innings and gave up six runs, one of which was earned, before yielding to lefty Sam Taylor.

Winner Bob Warren pitched six innings, scattered four Spartan hits, struck out five and walked three to chalk up the victory.

Although this was Cherry Hill's opener, it was Clarenceville's third game of the year. They're now 2-1 on the young season.

The Spartans will attempt to iron out their kinks during the Easter holidays when Coach Mientkiewicz has scheduled three doubleheaders. But, before the break, they'll meet a tough Garden City West club and take on Dearborn Heights Crestwood for their two initial Tri-River Conference games.

Mientkiewicz feels that any team that has title aspirations must beat a talented Melvindale this year.

"They have almost everyone back from a year ago," the Spartan coach said. "They're the class of this league this year."

Eagles win, lose in extra innings

Marty Knight in their drive to better last year's 8-6 overall record. Knight, a righthander, can make any game interesting. He pitched six innings of scoreless ball before Pioneer erupted for three runs in the bottom of the seventh, then broke the deadlock in the next inning.

Knight had given up only one hit until what Stoh labeled a "disaster seventh" when a pair of infield singles rocked Romulus.

Knight collected five strikeouts, walked four, one intentionally, and wound up pitching a six-hitter. Winner Jeff Minick fanned 14 and walked five in tossing a three hitter.

Romulus broke a three-inning scoreless lock with three runs in the top of the fourth when Mark Schick walked, was chased to third on Rich Hoth's single. Hoth, a 6-3, 195-pound good-looking prospect then stole second. Todd Wallace worked Minick for a base on balls and when the Pioneer hurler also issued Dwayne Cobb a free pass, the Eagles had their first run.

Romulus scored twice in the first inning on a two-run single by Wallace — his first of three hits. He drove in Schick, who had walked, and Knight, who got aboard on an error.

Wallace got the victory when Schick led off the 10th with a walk, was sacrificed to second, then Hoth walked, and Matt Sullivan came through with a run-scoring single.

Play softball!

If you're interested in playing for or on a women or men's softball team, the Van Buren Parks and Recreation Department would like you to contact them.

Both the men and women's leagues will be made up of 12 teams and play a 22-game season. If you wish further information, contact the parks and recreation department at 699-2001 or drop in and talk to Mark J. Raireck, director of parks and recreation.

The township hall is located at 46425 Tyler Rd.

Young bowler hits 678

Tracy De Ciest, a 13-year-old Belleville bowler, hit 12 consecutive strikes in her opening game and settled for 246, the highest individual game score of the season in the Saturday Morning Teen League out of the Super Bowl in Canton Township.

Tracy finished with a 678 series, also a high in the league, after rolling 224 and 208 for the day. Coach Katie Seies says "that Tracy has improved tremendously this season."

Lions are coming

Although he isn't expected to be tossing any "bombs", watch for Detroit Lions' quarterback Gary Danielson to be tossing in baskets when he brings his teammates to the Inkster Recreation Center Friday night.

Danielson and Al "Bubba" Baker head a list of Lion gridders who will invade the rec. center, 2025 Middlebelt, to play an exhibition basketball game against Inkster officials.

During the halftime intermission, members of the Lions' squad will be available to sign autographs. For ticket information, telephone 728-7532.

Canejo, Drydale wins V'ball playoffs

Canejo/Drydale had the winning touch in the finals of the Romulus Co-Ed Volleyball League as it knocked off Little Bill's to capture the playoff championship.

Little Bill's had stashed away the league championship and was spiking for its second crown of the campaign. However, Canejo had a better idea. It won the first match 15-8 and 15-9, then came up with victories of 17-15 and 15-11 for the title.

Truman trips Zebras, 7-0

Could be a 'long year' for Wayne

"The graying of Chronowski."

That's how Wayne Memorial head baseball Coach Jim Chronowski views the 1981 season.

Chronowski came to that conclusion after he watched his Zebras give up seven runs in the fifth and lose their Great Lakes 8 Conference opener, 7-0, at the hands of Taylor Truman.

"They say I have a few gray ones atop of my head," Chronowski said, "but, before this season is over, I probably will have more gray than black ones."

Chronowski, whose teams have been feared over the years — he was in the coveted "top 4" in the state a year ago after winning the district and regional titles, says he is going to rebuild this year.

"We'll wait and see what our seniors do, and if they can't put it together, we have some impressive-looking sophomores who I won't hesitate bringing up later if necessary."

In his 11th season as head coach, Chronowski is one of the, if not the, winningest baseball coaches in the area. Last year the Zebras polished off a 20-9 won-lost record, although the conference title eluded them.

Tom Noland's Lincoln Park won it, and Chronowski says he doesn't see anyone taking it away from the Railsplitters this year. "They're definitely the odds-on-favorite," Chronowski pointed out.

Wayne's Jerry Perusso and Jeff Ozuch, Taylor's ace, were locked in a pitcher's duel when the proverbial roof fell in on Wayne. Truman cashed in on an error and a couple of hits to tilt the scoreboard in their favor seven times in the fifth.

Ozuch gave up two hits, one a leadoff double to Rick Covault and a stretch single to Dan Swanson in the second before he was relieved in the fifth. He fanned seven and walked one, while Perusse, a lefthander, served up five hits, fanned four and walked an equal number of batters in digesting the loss.

By Thurston, 68-64

Franklin edged out in opener

Thurston quickly moved itself into the ranks of the contenders as the Eagles clipped always-tough Livonia Franklin in the Northwest Suburban Conference track opener, 68-64.

"They have a fine team," said Franklin Coach Bob Holmes whose Patriots came within six-inches of winning it. "I feel Thurston, Glenn, and North Farmington are going to age a dogfight for this one."

"But I'm not counting us out because of one loss," he said.

Neither are they, coach. Holmes did add that he was "disappointed because I felt we could have won it."

The pivotal event was the 440-yard relay where Thurston managed to win a photo finish and stash away five decisive points.

Meet results: Livonia Franklin 64, Redford Thurston 68.
